15 Millions Killed in Red China

Liquidations, Starvation Responsible, U.S. Aide Declares—Makes Bid for Funds

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson has told Congress the Chinese Reds, in "just about the bloodiest pattern that the Communists have followed in any country in the world," have killed about 15 million of their own people since 1949.

Robertson, whose province is Far Eastern affairs, attributed this huge death toll to liquidations and government-ignored starvation.

In testimony on the State Department's budget request, made public by the House Appropriations Committee today, Robertson said the department anticipates in Asia for the foreseeable future "emergencies, crises and problems of the greatest importance and magnitude."

He made these other main points:

1. A basic American strategy is to keep powerful Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa as a constant threat to American supported military action against Red China.

Deep Unrest

2. On the mainland "there is a deep undercurrent of unrest and resentments that would be glad to follow some other leadership if it had the chance."

3. New outlets must be found for Japanese trade, including more access to American markets, "or we will inevitably throw Japan into the Communist orbit."

4. For an indefinte period "we must make a contribution toward keeping our allies strong." In Formosa and Korea we have an army of just about one million men... a big reserve against trouble in Asia" but a financial drain too heavy for these countries to handle alone.

During the hearings, in late January, Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith and United Nations Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge testified the administration had no plans to recognize Red China.

"We do not see Communist China as a decent member of the world community at the present time or in the foreseeable future," Smith said.

Siege Is Lifted

Saigon, Indochina, Feb. 23 (AP)—The French command announced tonight that the 18-day siege of Muong Sai, 45 miles northwest of Luang Prabang, the royal capital of Laos, has been lifted with the aid of American donated B-26 bombers. The high command said elements of Vietminh Division No. 308, which unleased an offensive toward Luang Prabang Jan. 30, has pulled back its forces from the vicinity of the capital as well as Muong Sai. The Division is regrouping in the valley of the Bac river 50 miles northwest of Luang Prabang.

Air Assault Launched

Manila, Feb. 23 (AP)—A five-pronged, air-supported assault was launched today against Communist-led Huks who ignored a government surrender ultimatum. Five battalions equipped with armored cars and light artillery moved up the eastern slopes of Mount Banahaw on the Quezon-Laguna provincial border southeast of Manila. There were no reports of contact.

Other U. S. Posts Provided, Is Finding of Body

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Eleven State Department employes released in 1953 were suspected loyalty risks, and out of 590 let go as "security risks," 291 got jobs in other federal agencies.

The U. S. Information Agency, which operates the Voice of America and other programs, told the House Appropriations Committee it found no Communists among its 31 "security" cases.

The statistics were contained in testimony made public today by the Appropriations Committee, whose Democratic members have been insisting in budget hearings that all departments specify how many of their security cases were actually adjudged subversive. Democrats have claimed that the vast majority of the 2,200 federal employes fired or resigned under the Eisenhower administration security program were let out for reasons other than suspected disloyalty.

To date, the committee has made public complete or partial breakdowns by seven agencies of their security dismissals. With approximately 761,500 employes, these departments have accounted for 1,057 security dismissals or resignations in 1953. Forty of these were listed as suspected or actual subversives. Causes of dismissal of the others included drunkenness, homosexuality, overtalkativeness, and incompetency.

Given by McLeod

The State Department's statistics were given by R. W. Scott McLeod, administrator of security.

He said that 21 employes had been discharged for cause, including 11 with "pro-Communist activities or associations" such as having relatives who were Soviet Nationals. Seven of the 11, McLeod testified, had charges pending against them when the Republican administration took office.

Is Handling Top Secret Dispatches

Stevens to Meet Senator at Thursday Session — Says Army Had Report

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—A former FBI undercover informant testified today that she had known as a dues-paying, card-carrying Communist a woman who Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) said now is handling "top secret messages" as an army code room employe.

Mrs. Mary Markward, the FBI informer named the army employe as Annie Lee Moss.

Mrs. Markward, trim in a black suit and white gloves, testified at a public hearing called by McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee.

Mrs. Markward told the subcommittee that as a former Communist Party official here she had known Annie Lee Moss as a Communist Party member. At the time, she said, the woman was a cafeteria worker in the Pentagon.

McCarthy a moment before said the woman whom Mrs. Markward was to name is, according to the subcommittee's understanding, now working in the code room of the Army Signal Corps, "handling top secret messages."

Embroiled With Stevens

McCarthy is embroiled in controversy with Secretary of the Army Stevens over McCarthy's charge the army has "coddled Communists."

Stevens was once scheduled for a face-to-face meeting with the committee today on the issue, but McCarthy deferred the session until Thursday.

Instead, McCarthy decided to go into this case which he described as that of an "alleged Communist" in the Pentagon's "decoding room."

Convening the hearing, McCarthy said the testimony he was about to take should come as "no surprise" to the army because "the army had the same information months ago."

McCarthy said the inquiry has nothing to do with his blasts at the army for honorably discharging Maj. Irving Peress, now a practicing dentist in New York. McCarthy has called Peress a "Fifth Amendment Communist." Peress termed the McCarthy charges "sheer nonsense."

It was the Peress case that touched off a barrage of charges and counter charges between McCarthy and Stevens over the weekend.

Specifically, Stevens objected to the way McCarthy questioned Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker in a closed hearing in New York last week. Zwicker is commanding general at Camp Kilmer, N. J., from which Peress was discharged at his own request on Feb. 2.

Stevens accused McCarthy of "abuse of our loyal officers" and of weakening the army's prestige and morale by "unfair attacks." As a result, Stevens has ordered Zwicker and Maj. Gen. William Bergin, the army adjutant general, not to testify in response to McCarthy's summons. Stevens said he would appear himself. Network television coverage of the session is planned.

Transcript Made Public

McCarthy yesterday made public the transcript of the New York hearing and it showed that the senator at one point told Zwicker, a bemedaled veteran of the Normandy invasion: "You are not fit to wear that uniform . ."

The senator, the transcript also showed, called Zwicker down for "hemming and hawing" and told him Peress' promotion from captain and honorable discharge was a "tremendous disgrace to the army."

Zwicker, who protested after the hearing that McCarthy gave out a "colored" version of his testimony, testified he got an "official order" to discharge Peress and that he had no choice but to comply.

Says Zwicker Sincere

Returning here from Philadelphia last night, McCarthy told newsmen he did not think "there is anything evil about Zwicker" and that he was "most likely sincere in thinking that if he answered (questions at the New York hearing) he might be court martialed."

The general said last night he got the order to discharge Peress in routine fashion.

Reached by telephone, Zwicker said at Camp Kilmer he would have been "properly relieved of command in the morning," if he

Police, Courts Get Kelley's Praise

Drunk Driving Convictions Total 87 Per Cent in Connecticut

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 23 (AP)—Drunken driving reached an all-time high in Connecticut during 1953.

State Motor Vehicles Commissioner Charles F. Kelley reported today that 2,541 arrests for this offense last year represented a 24 per cent increase over the 1952 figure.

More "discouraging," said Kelley is that the 1953 figure constitutes a 150 per cent increase over drunken driving arrests for 1944.

Praising both police and the courts for their "energetic prosecution" of drunken drivers, Kelley said convictions were obtained in 87 per cent of the arrests.

Convictions, he said, resulted in $232,000 in fines, an increase of about 36 per cent over the preceding year, and in the loss of driving licenses for from one to five years.

Dewey Budget Up For Final Approval

Assembly Will Act Today on Highest Figures Passed by Senate

Albany, Feb. 23 (AP)—Gov. Dewey's budget, the highest in the history of the state and the third consecutive budget in excess of a billion dollars, was up for certain final legislative approval in the Assembly today.

The Senate passed the budget last night after the Republican majority had defeated Democratic amendments to give New York city an additional 90 million dollars. The Democrats contended the budget was confusing, and they cited what they called a record state debt.

Dewey's fiscal program for the year beginning April 1 provides for appropriations of $1,113,129,247 and expenditures of $1,122,700,000, both new highs.

48 Million in Excess of '53

Before the Legislature adjourns next month administration measures will be passed that will raise the appropriations to $1,140,000,000 an increase of 48 million over last year's final figure.

The additional appropriations will include 17 million in the supplemental budget, $13,200,000 of

Misgivings Still Are Rife About Permitting Reds to Attend Conference

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles comes out today for round two in his fight to win Congress to his view that this country more than held its own at the Big Four meeting in Berlin.

Dulles arranged to meet with the House Foreign Affairs Committee (3 p. m.) and presumably he will take the same line he adopted in briefing key Democratic and Republican congressional leaders yesterday: That U. S. agreement to seat Red Chinese delegates at an April conference in Geneva on Asiatic peace problems does not mean that U. S. recognition of Red China is in the offing.

Meanwhile, there was one indication that Dulles had failed to quiet all the doubts in the minds of the lawmakers with whom he talked for 90 minutes in his office yesterday.

Knowland Dissatisfied

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader, said in a New York speech last night he has "substantial" misgivings about the decision of the Big Four Ministers to invite the Chinese Reds to the Geneva Conference, despite Dulles' assurance on the recognition question."

The Californian also objected to discussion of Indochina unless

President to Conclude Stay In Southern California Spot

Palm Springs, Calif., Feb. 23 (AP)—This is the last day of President Eisenhower's Southern California vacation, and he plans to spend a good part of it on the golf course.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower are scheduled to start back to Washington by plane tonight (about 11:30 p. m., EST) and to arrive in the capital early tomorrow morning. There are sleeping quarters aboard their special plane, the Columbine.

After Eisenhower arrives in the capital, Secretary of State Dulles will give him a first hand report on the Berlin conference of the Big Four foreign ministers.

Eisenhower arrived here last Wednesday night and he and the first lady have been the guests of Paul G. Hoffman, board chairman of the Studebaker Corporation, and Paul H. Helms, Los Angeles bakery executive. The Eisenhowers are staying at the Smoke Tree ranch home of the Helms.

The President has missed playing golf only one day since he arrived, and White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he has had "a completely wonderful time."

Meanwhile, Hagerty declined to comment on the hot dispute between Secretary of the Army Stevens and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The controversy between Stevens and the senator was touched off when Stevens instructed two army generals not to testify before McCarthy's Senate Investigating subcommittee.

Hagerty brushed aside the question and added he would have no comment any time it came up.

The press secretary also announced that the President would forego his weekly news conference, usually held on Wednesday. That appeared to foreclose any possibility of Eisenhower himself being questioned about the matter at this time.

UPA 'Interested' In City Property

Ballantine Building Under Consideration, Local Manager Says

Rumors circulating this morning that a local firm had purchased the Ballantine building on Field Court are without foundation, a check by The Freeman disclosed.

However, it was learned that Ulster Provisioners Co-operative Association, Inc., 10 East Strand, is interested in the property.

James Roberts, general manager of the East Strand firm, told The Freeman that the firm was "contemplating a change" and that the Ballantine property was under consideration.

Property Being Studied

"There are many points to be cleared up, however," he said, pointing out that any change was subject to approval by the firm's board of directors.

He explained that the Ballantine property was being studied carefully to determine if it could be made "suitable" for use by the firm, which is a wholesale grocery.

Roberts said the store needed more space and was having loading difficulties and that a Central Broadway location would enable it to serve its customers more effectively.

Has Railroad Siding

The Ballantine building, consisting of three stories and basement, with a railroad siding and a large parking lot, was occupied until recently by P. Ballantine and Sons, a wholesale beverage concern. The Ballantine operations were transferred recently to the former Adirondacks Trailway Garage in Tillson.

The building was built about 20 years ago by Leon Blankfield and William R. Harrison as a wholesale grocery.

Raymond E. Craft, Kingston real estate broker, is handling negotiations.

Conservative Leaders Consider Planning, Investments on These Points

(This, the second of a series of five articles, discusses what lies ahead potentially for the mid-Hudson area, including Ulster county. Today's story treats of factors based upon more than optimism.)

BY JOHN R. WARREN
(Freeman Staff Reporter)

A new trend in factory site selection and the completion of express highways and bridges appear certain to combine to bring a period of major industrial expansion to Ulster county and the mid-Hudson area.

This is more than just an optimistic guess. Well informed, traditionally conservative business leaders are already basing their planning and capital investments on that presumption.

Utilities are expanding, banks are enlarging their quarters and opening branches, housing developers are announcing plans for new construction, large food retailing chains are investing in property in the area.

Position Advantageous

Ulster county, like the rest of the Mid-Hudson area, is in a particularly advantageous position when judged according to current standards used in selecting sites for new factories.

Industry is constantly faced with the need for replacing plants that have outlived their economic usefulness.

The best manufacturing location is that site at which raw materials can be assembled, processed into a finished product and delivered to the customer at the lowest possible cost.

Thirty years ago, that optimum location for one type of factory, for instance, may have been in the heart of New York city's garment district. The same factory today may find that location is not the best economically.

New Factors Added

The tremendous increase in the use of the automobile, increased leisure time for workers, changing living standards have added new factors that need to be considered in the specialized task of site selection.

Within limits, congestion and traffic bottlenecks often become economic liabilities that outweigh the disadvantages of distance.

Medical Reaction To Globulin Use May Be Decisive

Group of Experts Reports on Findings: Mass Inoculations Not Conclusive

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—The reaction of the medical profession—particularly state and local health officers—to a somewhat inconclusive report on the use of gamma globulin against polio may determine the extent to which it is used this year.

Health officials indicated they would await such reaction before determining the extent to which gamma globulin is used in 1954—and how.

A group of 17 polio experts appointed by the U. S. public health service reported last night that:

1. It had found no evidence that gamma globulin, a blood derivative, prevented or mitigated paralytic polio when given in mass inoculation programs to all children in the 23 areas in 13 states which had epidemics last summer.

2. It had found no evidence that gamma globulin was effective when given to family contacts of persons stricken.

However, the committee qualified its statement about the mass inoculation program by saying that observations did not provide enough information to permit it to conclude whether or not gamma globulin had an effect in preventing or alleviating the disease when used in this way.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis had announced that it would make available for use this summer three million doses of gamma globulin, worth 19 million dollars. It reaffirmed those plans in commenting on the committee's report.

Sure of Cancellations

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said today he is sure state health officers will cancel polio vaccine tests in counties in the event of epidemics.

The best time for such tests is before an epidemic period, since data must be obtained that can be compared with previous years. The effect of the vaccine would be hard to determine if tests were made after the epidemic peak.

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the foundation, said in a statement that the nationwide tests will begin in the south in late March or early April despite

New Paltz Soldier Died in Pyoktong, Red Prison Camp

Cpl. Richard A. Winnie of New Paltz, listed as missing in action in Korea for more than three years, died in Pyoktong Prison Camp in North Korea on March 23, 1951, the army announced today.

According to a letter received by Winne's uncle, Marshall G. Winnie of Upper Main street, New Paltz, with whom he made his home, the cause of death was listed as malnutrition.

Winnie's uncle told The Freeman he had been advised by the army that his nephew died March 23, 1951. He was captured near the North Korean border on November 18, 1951, six days before his 21st birthday.

Cpl. Winnie enlisted in Poughkeepsie and was sent to Japan before war broke out in Korea. He was with one of the first army units to see action.

His parents were the late Virgil and Lorna Everett Winnie of Big Indian. Cpl. Winnie was reared in Big Indian and attended school there.

Ferguson Says Democrats Hurt Business With Recession Talk; Should Be Stopped

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Sen. Ferugson (R.-Mich.) said today Democratic talk of a business recession is hurting the country and ought to be stopped.

Ferguson, who heads the Senate GOP Policy Committee, spoke out after former President Hoover had discounted the possibility of a depression and Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell had said reaction of the pocketbook nerve is likely to determine control of Congress in November.

"I don't think there is going to be any recession but I must say the propaganda for it is much more effective than I had anticipated it would be," Ferguson said in an interview.

"All this talk is persuading some people not to buy. And when they don't buy an article, somebody who is making it loses his job."

Hoover told the American Good Government Society here last night that as a man who had one depression named for him he thought he could speak with good authority there are no signs on the landscape of any big depression now.

Observing that economic dips occur about every five or seven years in free enterprise systems, Hoover added:

"You can have high confidence that this is only a passing dip, a slump, a readjustment or a recession, not a great depression."

He said the "combustible materials are not hereabouts to construct another conflagration like that of the decade of the thirties." Then, he said, a total financial collapse in Europe combined with public over-optimism and a weak banking system at home to bring about world wide depression.

Mitchell told a news conference yesterday he believes control of Congress will turn in November on how the voters answer the question: "Am I better or worse off than I was a year ago?"

Ferguson discounted that, saying:

"I think the American people are much more intelligent than Mr. Mitchell gives them credit with being. They know we Republicans are trying to get from a war to a peace economy.

"In my opinion, the public is going to be better satisfied with a

Banquet Ticket Sales Total 250

A capacity attendance for the Chamber of Commerce annual banquet on March 8 was predicted today by N. Jansen Fowler, president, on the basis of advance reservations received.

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, U. S. director of defense mobilization, will be the speaker at the banquet, to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Flemming, a native Kingstonian who is on leave as president of Ohio Wesleyan University while holding the important government position has not announced his topic.

President to Conclude Stay In Southern California Spot

Palm Springs, Calif., Feb. 23 (AP)—This is the last day of President Eisenhower's Southern California vacation, and he plans to spend a good part of it on the golf course.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower are scheduled to start back to Washington by plane tonight (about 11:30 p. m., EST) and to arrive in the capital early tomorrow morning. There are sleeping quarters aboard their special plane, the Columbine.

After Eisenhower arrives in the capital, Secretary of State Dulles will give him a first hand report on the Berlin conference of the Big Four foreign ministers.

Eisenhower arrived here last Wednesday night and he and the first lady have been the guests of Paul G. Hoffman, board chairman of the Studebaker Corporation, and Paul H. Helms, Los Angeles bakery executive. The Eisenhowers are staying at the Smoke Tree ranch home of the Helms.

The President has missed playing golf only one day since he arrived, and White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he has had "a completely wonderful time."

Meanwhile, Hagerty declined to comment on the hot dispute between Secretary of the Army Stevens and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The controversy between Stevens and the senator was touched off when Stevens instructed two army generals not to testify before McCarthy's Senate Investigating subcommittee.

Hagerty brushed aside the question and added he would have no comment any time it came up.

The press secretary also announced that the President would forego his weekly news conference, usually held on Wednesday. That appeared to foreclose any possibility of Eisenhower himself being questioned about the matter at this time.

UPA 'Interested' In City Property

Ballantine Building Under Consideration, Local Manager Says

Rumors circulating this morning that a local firm had purchased the Ballantine building on Field Court are without foundation, a check by The Freeman disclosed.

However, it was learned that Ulster Provisioners Co-operative Association, Inc., 10 East Strand, is interested in the property.

James Roberts, general manager of the East Strand firm, told The Freeman that the firm was "contemplating a change" and that the Ballantine property was under consideration.

Property Being Studied

"There are many points to be cleared up, however," he said, pointing out that any change was subject to approval by the firm's board of directors.

He explained that the Ballantine property was being studied carefully to determine if it could be made "suitable" for use by the firm, which is a wholesale grocery.

Roberts said the store needed more space and was having loading difficulties and that a Central Broadway location would enable it to serve its customers more effectively.

Has Railroad Siding

The Ballantine building, consisting of three stories and basement, with a railroad siding and a large parking lot, was occupied until recently by P. Ballantine and Sons, a wholesale beverage concern. The Ballantine operations were transferred recently to the former Adirondacks Trailway Garage in Tillson.

The building was built about 20 years ago by Leon Blankfield and William R. Harrison as a wholesale grocery.

Raymond E. Craft, Kingston real estate broker, is handling negotiations.

Conservative Leaders Consider Planning, Investments on These Points

(This, the second of a series of five articles, discusses what lies ahead potentially for the mid-Hudson area, including Ulster county. Today's story treats of factors based upon more than optimism.)

BY JOHN R. WARREN
(Freeman Staff Reporter)

A new trend in factory site selection and the completion of express highways and bridges appear certain to combine to bring a period of major industrial expansion to Ulster county and the mid-Hudson area.

This is more than just an optimistic guess. Well informed, traditionally conservative business leaders are already basing their planning and capital investments on that presumption.

Utilities are expanding, banks are enlarging their quarters and opening branches, housing developers are announcing plans for new construction, large food retailing chains are investing in property in the area.

Position Advantageous

Ulster county, like the rest of the Mid-Hudson area, is in a particularly advantageous position when judged according to current standards used in selecting sites for new factories.

Industry is constantly faced with the need for replacing plants that have outlived their economic usefulness.

The best manufacturing location is that site at which raw materials can be assembled, processed into a finished product and delivered to the customer at the lowest possible cost.

Thirty years ago, that optimum location for one type of factory, for instance, may have been in the heart of New York city's garment district. The same factory today may find that location is not the best economically.

New Factors Added

The tremendous increase in the use of the automobile, increased leisure time for workers, changing living standards have added new factors that need to be considered in the specialized task of site selection.

Within limits, congestion and traffic bottlenecks often become economic liabilities that outweigh the disadvantages of distance.

Medical Reaction To Globulin Use May Be Decisive

Group of Experts Reports on Findings: Mass Inoculations Not Conclusive

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—The reaction of the medical profession —particularly state and local health officers—to a somewhat inconclusive report on the use of gamma globulin against polio may determine the extent to which it is used this year.

Health officials indicated they would await such reaction before determining the extent to which gamma globulin is used in 1954—and how.

A group of 17 polio experts appointed by the U. S. public health service reported last night that:

1. It had found no evidence that gamma globulin, a blood derivative, prevented or mitigated paralytic polio when given in mass inoculation programs to all children in the 23 areas in 13 states which had epidemics last summer.

2. It had found no evidence that gamma globulin was effective when given to family contacts of persons stricken.

However, the committee qualified its statement about the mass inoculation program by saying that observations did not provide enough information to permit it to conclude whether or not gamma globulin had an effect in preventing or alleviating the disease when used in this way.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis had announced that it would make available for use this summer three million doses of gamma globulin, worth 19 million dollars. It reaffirmed those plans in commenting on the committee's report.

Sure of Cancellations

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said today he is sure state health officers will cancel polio vaccine tests in counties in the event of epidemics.

The best time for such tests is before an epidemic period, since data must be obtained that can be compared with previous years. The effect of the vaccine would be hard to determine if tests were made after the epidemic peak.

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the foundation, said in a statement that the nationwide tests will begin in the south in late March or early April despite

Siege Is Lifted

Saigon, Indochina, Feb. 23 (AP)—The French command announced tonight that the 18-day siege of Muong Sai, 45 miles northwest of Luang Prabang, the royal capital of Laos, has been lifted with the aid of American donated B-26 bombers. The high command said elements of Vietminh Division No. 308, which unleased an offensive toward Luang Prabang Jan. 30, has pulled back its forces from the vicinity of the capital as well as Muong Sai. The Division is regrouping in the valley of the Bac river 50 miles northwest of Luang Prabang.

Air Assault Launched

Manila, Feb. 23 (AP)—A five-pronged, air-supported assault was launched today against Communist-led Huks who ignored a government surrender ultimatum. Five battalions equipped with armored cars and light artillery moved up the eastern slopes of Mount Banahaw on the Quezon-Laguna provincial border southeast of Manila. There were no reports of contact.

New Paltz Soldier Died in Pyoktong, Red Prison Camp

Cpl. Richard A. Winnie of New Paltz, listed as missing in action in Korea for more than three years, died in Pyoktong Prison Camp in North Korea on March 23, 1951, the army announced today.

According to a letter received by Winne's uncle, Marshall G. Winnie of Upper Main street, New Paltz, with whom he made his home, the cause of death was listed as malnutrition.

Winnie's uncle told The Freeman he had been advised by the army that his nephew died March 23, 1951. He was captured near the North Korean border on November 18, 1951, six days before his 21st birthday.

Cpl. Winnie enlisted in Poughkeepsie and was sent to Japan before war broke out in Korea. He was with one of the first army units to see action.

His parents were the late Virgil and Lorna Everett Winnie of Big Indian. Cpl. Winnie was reared in Big Indian and attended school there.

Ferguson Says Democrats Hurt Business With Recession Talk; Should Be Stopped

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Sen. Ferugson (R.-Mich.) said today Democratic talk of a business recession is hurting the country and ought to be stopped.

Ferguson, who heads the Senate GOP Policy Committee, spoke out after former President Hoover had discounted the possibility of a depression and Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell had said reaction of the pocketbook nerve is likely to determine control of Congress in November.

"I don't think there is going to be any recession but I must say the propaganda for it is much more effective than I had anticipated it would be," Ferguson said in an interview.

"All this talk is persuading some people not to buy. And when they don't buy an article, somebody who is making it loses his job."

Hoover told the American Good Government Society here last night that as a man who had one depression named for him he thought he could speak with good authority there are no signs on the landscape of any big depression now.

Observing that economic dips occur about every five or seven years in free enterprise systems, Hoover added:

"You can have high confidence that this is only a passing dip, a slump, a readjustment or a recession, not a great depression."

He said the "combustible materials are not hereabouts to construct another conflagration like that of the decade of the thirties." Then, he said, a total financial collapse in Europe combined with public over-optimism and a weak banking system at home to bring about world wide depression.

Mitchell told a news conference yesterday he believes control of Congress will turn in November on how the voters answer the question: "Am I better or worse off than I was a year ago?"

Ferguson discounted that, saying:

"I think the American people are much more intelligent than Mr. Mitchell gives them credit with being. They know we Republicans are trying to get from a war to a peace economy.

"In my opinion, the public is going to be better satisfied with a

Silver Declares He Got Information

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Brooklyn district attorney, after two hours yesterday with Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia, said he got "a lot of information concerning the Rubino case and concerning Anastasia."

The prosecutor, Edward S. Silver, would not elaborate and said that to give details would impede the investigation of the brutal beating last Thursday of Thomas Rubino, 40, financial secretary of Local 1199 of the independent International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA).

Anastasia, reputed Brooklyn boss for the ILA, dodged newsmen's questions and told them to "get your answers from Silver."

Rubino was beaten in his Brooklyn office by four men. His condition at Long Island College Hospital remained critical today. Two alleged "musclemen" of Anastasia have been arrested in the beating.

Suspected of Action

Officials theorize the attack apparently resulted from suspicion that Rubino was flirting with the rival AFL International Longshoremen's Assn. (AFL-ILA). Rubino reportedly also opposed an Anastasia plan for reorganizing the Brooklyn ILA locals.

The AFL formed its new dock union last fall after ousting the old ILA for failure to purge itself of racketeering elements.

Anastasia showed up for the interview with Silver yesterday after a six-day disappearance. Police on Saturday said they were looking for him, revealing that he had eluded an unwanted police guard a week ago today.

Yesterday Anastasia walked into a Brooklyn police station and said, "I understand you've been looking for me."

He said he had been at Miami Beach, Fla.

Three Local Men Are Corps Officers

Three local men were elected to office at the monthly meeting of the Hudson Valley Drum Corps Association, Inc., held in Newburgh, according to a press release from Jack Reynolds, who was chosen secretary.

Aside from Reynolds, captain of Port Ewen Drum Corps, another member of that organization was elected, John Amarello, 88 Elmendorf street, who is the new first vice president of the association. He's a drum sergeant in the Port Ewen Corps.

The third local resident, who won in the poll, is Nicholas Attanasio, RFD 1, Box 388, Kingston, who was chosen second vice president. He is a member of two marching organizations, The Sons of Liberty Drum Corps of Brooklyn and Newburgh Continental Fife & Drum Corps.

According to Reynolds, there are 26 drum corps in the Hudson valley association, formed to promote unity and loyalty among them.

Begin Clearing Lot For Hall of Prayer

Work has been started on a $25,000 Kingdom Hall which will be erected on Pine street near Franklin as the first permanent home of Jehovah's Witnesses in Kingston.

Plans call for erection of a one-story concrete block building 42 by 62 feet in size on a lot recently purchased from James E. Snead. The building will, in addition to the assembly room and meeting room, will also have three smaller committee rooms, cloak rooms, library and other facilities. In order to complete the building with as little expense as possible most of the work will be done by members of the organization, many of whom are contractors and tradesmen. A heating plant will be located in the cellar.

Meeting in Homes Now

For some time the membership held services in the Bernstein Building on Wall and North Front streets but due to fire regulations the third floor rooms had to be vacated and since that time meetings have been held in the homes of various members.

Service connections, excavation for the foundation and cellar have been started and the actual construction of the building will begin as soon as weather permits. It is expected the building will be completed in three or four months.

25,000 Workers Return

Detroit, Feb. 23 (AP)—Some 25,000 workers returned to their jobs at three Chrysler Corp. divisions today after a one-day layoff. Chrysler gave no reason for yesterday's one-day shutdown at plants of the Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler divisions. Similar shutdowns recently at other auto plants have been attributed to attempts to adjust production to lagging car sales. A Chrysler spokesman said the company has no plans for further temporary shutdowns.

The American Heart Association estimates that the United States has about 750,000 deaths annually from heart trouble.

President's Visit Booms Palm Springs Business

Palm Springs, Calif., Feb. 23 (AP)—What's a presidential visit worth to a resort like this?

Two weeks ago this desert spa was in the doldrums. Business was off. Hotels had cut rates. It looked like the winter season might be a bust.

Among the things businessmen were gnashing their teeth about was lack of promotion. The Chamber of Commerce budget was a mere $60,000, none of it for publicity. Rival Las Vegas reportedly spends $500,000 a year plugging itself.

Now, with Palm Springs basking in the reflected glow of world-wide publicity attendant to President Eisenhower's visit, all that is changed.

Thousands of sightseers jammed the town last weekend. Hotels were sold out. The 10,000 year 'round residents were swamped with guests who "just dropped in."

Businessmen say they couldn't have bought so much publicity for a million dollars. And it hasn't cost 'em a dime.

Boy Scout Council Is in Fourth Place

The Rip Van Winkle, Boy Scouts of America, is in fourth place in Region 2 of the national council, it was announced today by George V. Dennis, local scout executive.

Region 2 comprises 71 local councils from New York, New Jersey, and Puerto Rico, and for the past three years the Rip Van Winkle Council has placed among the top ten units.

In 1951 the local council was tenth with 18.7 per cent in the overall advancement picture. The [illegible] 1952 brought eighth place with a percentage of 20.1. Last year, 1953, the Rip Van Winkle Council had 18.1 per cent to take over fourth place.

This indicates a steady advancement record on the part of the local council, stated Scout Executive Dennis, who recently announced that over two thousand boys were being serviced locally through the various branches of scouting — the first time in the history of the local council that registration had passed the two thousand mark.

Cottekill

Cottekill, Feb. 23—A special meeting of the taxpayers of School District 5, Cottekill, was held Feb. 16 to discuss the request of the school trustees for additional funds for transportation facilities.

After installing Gerard W. Howland as chairman, Walter Williams, chairman of the board of trustees, explained that due to additional residents with school-age children in the district, it was found necessary to rearrange the bus routing. In as much as the bus was enlarging its area of operation, additional funds in the amount of $595.50 was needed to finish out the school year. He also explained that this money would be transferred from another budget item that had a surplus of funds.

After an affirmative vote was taken by ballot, some discussion was had on the advisability of increasing facilities to carry all students instead of only those living beyond the one mile limit. It was decided, however, to review the matter at the next annual meeting.

The Senate passed nine of the 11 budget bills by votes of 53-1. The dissenter was Sen. Peter J. Dalessandro, Watervliet Democrat.

The two other bills, keeping unincorporated business and income taxes at the same payment level as last year, were approved 49-5. Four Democrats joined Dalessandro in opposition to these.

Dalessandro said he voted against the budget measures because he had no assurance that all of the 65 million dollars in the Capital Construction Fund, earmarked for mental hospital construction, would be spent for that purpose.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The stock market pursued a mixed course today with many leading issues selling lower.

The decline extended to around 2 points at the outside while gains were almost all fractional.

On the depressed side were the aircrafts, distiller, most rubbers, steels, coppers, some oils, and electronics issues.

Motion picture issues had a flurry of rising prices early in the session. They turned quiet later but held to their gains. Utilities were higher on balance and some chemicals were ahead. Otherwise the market was narrowly mixed or steady.

There was a wealth of corporate and general economic news for the market to digest over the long weekend, but none seemed to have a pronounced influence on prices.

Among lower stocks were U.S. Steel, Studebaker, Goodrich, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda Copper, General Electric, American Can and Southern Pacific.

Brinkley Pleads Guilty to Charge

Ulie Brinkley, 31, who gave his address as South Manor avenue, entered a plea of guilty to second degree assault in County Court this morning and will be sentenced on Friday at 10 o'clock. Louis G. Bruhn appeared for Brinkley.

Brinkley was arrested at Port Ewen last April 24, as he was walking along the road and charged with assault, first degree, for the alleged shooting of Richard Boggs, 31, of 3 Canal street. Boggs was in serious condition at the hospital for some time but recovered. He now lives in Albany. Boggs has one leg and carried a cane. The shooting took place following a brawl between the two men. Brinkley allegedly bought a shotgun and fired at Boggs from the doorway of Brinkley's apartment at 7 West Strand as Boggs was walking along West Strand some 75 feet distance.

Raymond Hanyon, 31, charged with having taken food from a place in New Paltz, was given a sentence of a year in jail but execution of sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation. A burglary count in the indictment was dismissed. Michael Nardone appeared for Hanyon.

Several other criminal cases were set down for 2 p. m. today.

Glass Blowers Can't Agree on Wage Offer

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—A union spokesman in the industry-wide glass negotiations reports the employers have made no wage offer satisfactory to the union and that the talks are stalemated on other issues.

The spokesman for the AFL Glass Bottle Blowers Assn. said after yesterday's session he was hopeful that agreement on some issues might be reached today.

He said management negotiators attempted to "change traditional work clauses," such as those detailing the duties of glass workers, and this caused a major stalemate.

Employer spokesmen could not be reached for comment.

The negotiations, which have been in progress since last Tuesday, affect 47,000 workers in 58 plants across the nation. The union is seeking wage increases and other benefits.

Hatcheck Girl Makes King Pay His 5 Cents

Stockholm, Sweden, Feb. 23 (AP)—It happened at a big movie theatre in Stockholm.

Some minutes before the hall darkened a tall, elderly man put his hat and coat in the cloakroom counter.

The hatcheck girl, without looking up, took the clothes, and asked for 25 oere (about 5 cents).

"I'm sorry, I haven't any money," the man replied.

"It will be 25 oere anyhow," she retorted.

The man turned to someone behind and borrowed a coin for the girl.

Theft of $70 Traced

Local police traced a theft of $70 from School No. 6 Saturday night to three boys, it was learned today. Two of the youngsters broke into the school and took the money from a till in the principal's office and some of it was given to a third boy. All three, it was said, are pupils of other schools. The money was recovered. The boys were picked up by Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons.

Wicks' Bill Is Passed Unanimously in Senate

Albany, Feb. 23 (AP)—Sen. Arthur H. Wicks' proposal that state correctional institutions report inmates' visitors monthly to the governor was approved unanimously by the Senate today.

Wicks resigned last fall as majority leader and acting lieutenant governor after it was disclosed that he had visited labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay in Sing Sing Prison. Gov. Dewey had asked for the resignation.

The Kingston Republican's measure would require the warden or superintendent of each correctional institution to report monthly to the commission of correction the names and addresses of all visitors to the prisoners except members of the inmate's immediate family, his attorney or spiritual advisor. The reports would be summarized and sent to the governor.

The measure was sent to the Assembly.

had failed to obey, adding: "That's the way it is in the army and the way it always has been."

Zwicker complained that a former Communist who preceded him at the hearing got far better treatment than he did. He did not name the witness.

Zwicker also said he doesn't know who issued the order for Peress' discharge. "I'm not supposed to know," he added.

That was one of the things McCarthy sought to learn when he questioned Zwicker. Later he gave the army a 24-hour ultimatum to furnish the names of those responsible. The army still has not done so.

McCarthy said in his opinion both Zwicker and Stevens went "too far" in interpreting and order issued by former president Truman and still in effect. This order forbids government officials to furnish information on security matters to congressional investigating groups.

McCarthy also said Stevens went "further than anyone else" in ordering the two generals not to obey subpoenas issued by McCarthy. He told newsmen he plans to thrash that matter out with Stevens on Thursday.

Both Stevens and McCarthy were in the Philadelphia area yesterday to receive gold medals for furthering the American way of life. And both added a little more fuel to the flames of the controversy.

McCarthy, getting his award from the Sons of the American Revolution at a Philadelphia luncheon, said he thought Stevens was "the finest dupe I've ever met." The Wisconsin senator also called Stevens "a loyal American," but he said the army secretary has been "misinformed" by people McCarthy described as "hangovers" from the Truman administration.

Some 25 miles away at historic Valley Forge, Stevens accepted a medal from the Freedoms Foundation on behalf of the armed services.

Grocers estimate that food markets of 1939 had about a thousand items from which the consumer could choose, but that there were 5,000 items in 1953.

Callanan Work Stoppage Ends

A work stoppage by union operating engineers at the Callanan Road Improvement Company's South Rondout plant ended following a meeting in Albany on Monday, and the men returned to work this morning.

No details on the dispute or cause of the stoppage were available at the local plant this morning, as the matter was handled through the firm's main office at South Bethlehem. A local spokesman confirmed the fact that the men returned to work today and the plant was operating normally this morning.

The ending of the stoppage, which began last week, averted the possibility of delays on the New York State Thruway contract work in the area. Callanan supplies stone to the Miron Lumber Company, which in turn supplies concrete to the Thruway project.

Agrarian Move Boomed

Moscow, Feb. 23 (AP)—A campaign to recruit city youngsters as sodbusters got a big buildup at the Kremlin last night. Premier Malenkov, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Communist party secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev attended a Komsomol (Communist Youth League) meeting that backed the party drive to get virgin and fallow land into cultivation. Tens of thousands of youths are wanted for the job. The aim is to expand the Soviet Union's crop land by more than 20 million acres in the next few years to help feed and clothe the Soviet people.

Silver Declares He Got Information

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Brooklyn district attorney, after two hours yesterday with Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia, said he got "a lot of information concerning the Rubino case and concerning Anastasia."

The prosecutor, Edward S. Silver, would not elaborate and said that to give details would impede the investigation of the brutal beating last Thursday of Thomas Rubino, 40, financial secretary of Local 1199 of the independent International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA).

Anastasia, reputed Brooklyn boss for the ILA, dodged newsmen's questions and told them to "get your answers from Silver."

Rubino was beaten in his Brooklyn office by four men. His condition at Long Island College Hospital remained critical today. Two alleged "musclemen" of Anastasia have been arrested in the beating.

Suspected of Action

Officials theorize the attack apparently resulted from suspicion that Rubino was flirting with the rival AFL International Longshoremen's Assn. (AFL-ILA). Rubino reportedly also opposed an Anastasia plan for reorganizing the Brooklyn ILA locals.

The AFL formed its new dock union last fall after ousting the old ILA for failure to purge itself of racketeering elements.

Anastasia showed up for the interview with Silver yesterday after a six-day disappearance. Police on Saturday said they were looking for him, revealing that he had eluded an unwanted police guard a week ago today.

Yesterday Anastasia walked into a Brooklyn police station and said, "I understand you've been looking for me."

He said he had been at Miami Beach, Fla.

According to Reynolds, there are 26 drum corps in the Hudson valley association, formed to promote unity and loyalty among them.

Begin Clearing Lot For Hall of Prayer

Work has been started on a $25,000 Kingdom Hall which will be erected on Pine street near Franklin as the first permanent home of Jehovah's Witnesses in Kingston.

Plans call for erection of a one-story concrete block building 42 by 62 feet in size on a lot recently purchased from James E. Snead. The building will, in addition to the assembly room and meeting room, will also have three smaller committee rooms, cloak rooms, library and other facilities. In order to complete the building with as little expense as possible most of the work will be done by members of the organization, many of whom are contractors and tradesmen. A heating plant will be located in the cellar.

Meeting in Homes Now

For some time the membership held services in the Bernstein Building on Wall and North Front streets but due to fire regulations the third floor rooms had to be vacated and since that time meetings have been held in the homes of various members.

Service connections, excavation for the foundation and cellar have been started and the actual construction of the building will begin as soon as weather permits. It is expected the building will be completed in three or four months.

25,000 Workers Return

Detroit, Feb. 23 (AP)—Some 25,000 workers returned to their jobs at three Chrysler Corp. divisions today after a one-day layoff. Chrysler gave no reason for yesterday's one-day shutdown at plants of the Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler divisions. Similar shutdowns recently at other auto plants have been attributed to attempts to adjust production to lagging car sales. A Chrysler spokesman said the company has no plans for further temporary shutdowns.

President's Visit Booms Palm Springs Business

Palm Springs, Calif., Feb. 23 (AP)—What's a presidential visit worth to a resort like this?

Two weeks ago this desert spa was in the doldrums. Business was off. Hotels had cut rates. It looked like the winter season might be a bust.

Among the things businessmen were gnashing their teeth about was lack of promotion. The Chamber of Commerce budget was a mere $60,000, none of it for publicity. Rival Las Vegas reportedly spends $500,000 a year plugging itself.

Now, with Palm Springs basking in the reflected glow of worldwide publicity attendant to President Eisenhower's visit, all that is changed.

Thousands of sightseers jammed the town last weekend. Hotels were sold out. The 10,000 year 'round residents were swamped with guests who "just dropped in."

Businessmen say they couldn't have bought so much publicity for a million dollars. And it hasn't cost 'em a dime.

Boy Scout Council Is in Fourth Place

The Rip Van Winkle, Boy Scouts of America, is in fourth place in Region 2 of the national council, it was announced today by George V. Dennis, local scout executive.

Region 2 comprises 71 local councils from New York, New Jersey, and Puerto Rico, and for the past three years the Rip Van Winkle Council has placed among the top ten units.

In 1951 the local council was tenth with 18.7 per cent in the overall advancement picture. The [illegible] 1952 brought eighth place with a percentage of 20.1. Last year, 1953, the Rip Van Winkle Council had 18.1 per cent to take over fourth place.

This indicates a steady advancement record on the part of the local council, stated Scout Executive Dennis, who recently announced that over two thousand boys were being serviced locally through the various branches of scouting — the first time in the history of the local council that registration had passed the two thousand mark.

Cottekill

Cottekill, Feb. 23—A special meeting of the taxpayers of School District 5, Cottekill, was held Feb. 16 to discuss the request of the school trustees for additional funds for transportation facilities.

After installing Gerard W. Howland as chairman, Walter Williams, chairman of the board of trustees, explained that due to additional residents with schoolage children in the district, it was found necessary to rearrange the bus routing. In as much as the bus was enlarging its area of operation, additional funds in the amount of $595.50 was needed to finish out the school year. He also explained that this money would be transferred from another budget item that had a surplus of funds.

After an affirmative vote was taken by ballot, some discussion was had on the advisability of increasing facilities to carry all students instead of only those living beyond the one mile limit. It was decided, however, to review the matter at the next annual meeting.

Pass Nine Budget Bills

The Senate passed nine of the 11 budget bills by votes of 53-1. The dissenter was Sen. Peter J. Dalessandro, Watervliet Democrat.

The two other bills, keeping unincorporated business and income taxes at the same payment level as last year, were approved 49-5. Four Democrats joined Dalessandro in opposition to these.

Dalessandro said he voted against the budget measures because he had no assurance that all of the 65 million dollars in the Capital Construction Fund, earmarked for mental hospital construction, would be spent for that purpose.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The stock market pursued a mixed course today with many leading issues selling lower.

The decline extended to around 2 points at the outside while gains were almost all fractional.

On the depressed side were the aircrafts, distiller, most rubbers, steels, coppers, some oils, and electronics issues.

Motion picture issues had a flurry of rising prices early in the session. They turned quiet later but held to their gains. Utilities were higher on balance and some chemicals were ahead. Otherwise the market was narrowly mixed or steady.

There was a wealth of corporate and general economic news for the market to digest over the long weekend, but none seemed to have a pronounced influence on prices.

Among lower stocks were U.S. Steel, Studebaker, Goodrich, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda Copper, General Electric, American Can and Southern Pacific.

Brinkley Pleads Guilty to Charge

Ulie Brinkley, 31, who gave his address as South Manor avenue, entered a plea of guilty to second degree assault in County Court this morning and will be sentenced on Friday at 10 o'clock. Louis G. Bruhn appeared for Brinkley.

Brinkley was arrested at Port Ewen last April 24, as he was walking along the road and charged with assault, first degree, for the alleged shooting of Richard Boggs, 31, of 3 Canal street. Boggs was in serious condition at the hospital for some time but recovered. He now lives in Albany. Boggs has one leg and carried a cane. The shooting took place following a brawl between the two men. Brinkley allegedly bought a shotgun and fired at Boggs from the doorway of Brinkley's apartment at 7 West Strand as Boggs was walking along West Strand some 75 feet distance.

Raymond Hanyon, 31, charged with having taken food from a place in New Paltz, was given a sentence of a year in jail but execution of sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation. A burglary count in the indictment was dismissed. Michael Nardone appeared for Hanyon.

Several other criminal cases were set down for 2 p. m. today.

Glass Blowers Can't Agree on Wage Offer

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—A union spokesman in the industry-wide glass negotiations reports the employers have made no wage offer satisfactory to the union and that the talks are stalemated on other issues.

The spokesman for the AFL Glass Bottle Blowers Assn. said after yesterday's session he was hopeful that agreement on some issues might be reached today.

He said management negotiators attempted to "change traditional work clauses," such as those detailing the duties of glass workers, and this caused a major stalemate.

Employer spokesmen could not be reached for comment.

The negotiations, which have been in progress since last Tuesday, affect 47,000 workers in 58 plants across the nation. The union is seeking wage increases and other benefits.

Hatcheck Girl Makes King Pay His 5 Cents

Stockholm, Sweden, Feb. 23 (AP)—It happened at a big movie theatre in Stockholm.

Some minutes before the hall darkened a tall, elderly man put his hat and coat in the cloakroom counter.

The hatcheck girl, without looking up, took the clothes, and asked for 25 oere (about 5 cents).

"I'm sorry, I haven't any money," the man replied.

"It will be 25 oere anyhow," she retorted.

The man turned to someone behind and borrowed a coin for the girl.

She looked up and saw—King Gustav Adolf of Sweden.

The money was recovered. The boys were picked up by Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons.

Wicks' Bill Is Passed Unanimously in Senate

Albany, Feb. 23 (AP) — Sen. Arthur H. Wicks' proposal that state correctional institutions report inmates' visitors monthly to the governor was approved unanimously by the Senate today.

Wicks resigned last fall as majority leader and acting lieutenant governor after it was disclosed that he had visited labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay in Sing Sing Prison. Gov. Dewey had asked for the resignation.

The Kingston Republican's measure would require the warden or superintendent of each correctional institution to report monthly to the commission of correction the names and addresses of all visitors to the prisoners except members of the inmate's immediate family, his attorney or spiritual advisor. The reports would be summarized and sent to the governor.

The measure was sent to the Assembly.

had failed to obey, adding: "That's the way it is in the army and the way it always has been."

Zwicker complained that a former Communist who preceded him at the hearing got far better treatment than he did. He did not name the witness.

Zwicker also said he doesn't know who issued the order for Peress' discharge. "I'm not supposed to know," he added.

That was one of the things McCarthy sought to learn when he questioned Zwicker. Later he gave the army a 24-hour ultimatum to furnish the names of those responsible. The army still has not done so.

McCarthy said in his opinion both Zwicker and Stevens went "too far" in interpreting and order issued by former president Truman and still in effect. This order forbids government officials to furnish information on security matters to congressional investigating groups.

McCarthy also said Stevens went "further than anyone else" in ordering the two generals not to obey subpoenas issued by McCarthy. He told newsmen he plans to thrash that matter out with Stevens on Thursday.

Both Stevens and McCarthy were in the Philadelphia area yesterday to receive gold medals for furthering the American way of life. And both added a little more fuel to the flames of the controversy.

McCarthy, getting his award from the Sons of the American Revolution at a Philadelphia luncheon, said he thought Stevens was "the finest dupe I've ever met." The Wisconsin senator also called Stevens "a loyal American," but he said the army secretary has been "misinformed" by people McCarthy described as "hangovers" from the Truman administration.

Some 25 miles away at historic Valley Forge, Stevens accepted a medal from the Freedoms Foundation on behalf of the armed services.

Grocers estimate that food markets of 1939 had about a thousand items from which the consumer could choose, but that there were 5,000 items in 1953.

Callanan Work Stoppage Ends

A work stoppage by union operating engineers at the Callanan Road Improvement Company's South Rondout plant ended following a meeting in Albany on Monday, and the men returned to work this morning.

No details on the dispute or cause of the stoppage were available at the local plant this morning, as the matter was handled through the firm's main office at South Bethlehem. A local spokesman confirmed the fact that the men returned to work today and the plant was operating normally this morning.

The ending of the stoppage, which began last week, averted the possibility of delays on the New York State Thruway contract work in the area. Callanan supplies stone to the Miron Lumber Company, which in turn supplies concrete to the Thruway project.

Agrarian Move Boomed

Moscow, Feb. 23 (AP)—A campaign to recruit city youngsters as sodbusters got a big buildup at the Kremlin last night. Premier Malenkov, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Communist party secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev attended a Komsomol (Communist Youth League) meeting that backed the party drive to get virgin and fallow land into cultivation. Tens of thousands of youths are wanted for the job. The aim is to expand the Soviet Union's crop land by more than 20 million acres in the next few years to help feed and clothe the Soviet people.

BUILD A NEST EGG WITH A Monthly Investment Plan

Perhaps you've always thought you had to have "big money" to invest in stocks. But now, for as little as $25 (or less) each month, you can own an interest in over 50 companies. In such a supervised investment program, your shares increase with each payment. (And there's no penalty if you miss a payment). Dividends are paid in cash — or reinvested if you wish. It's a thrifty and convenient way to build a "nest egg" for your retirement or for your child's education.

Thimayya Quits Korea for India

Seoul, Feb. 23 (AP)—Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, chairman of the controversial commission which handled Korean war prisoner operations at Panmunjom, left today for home, his work finished.

Thimayya flew to Tokyo with U. S. Ambassador Ellis Briggs and U. S. Diplomat Kenneth Young for a short vacation.

The Indian general was chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission whose work ended Sunday midnight under terms of the armistice agreement. He saw the last of his 6,000 Indian troops put aboard the ship Jalburza today.

An 8th Army honor guard, composed of American, South Korean and other United Nations troops, put on a ceremony for the departing Indian. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, 8th Army commander, and Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson, 5th Air Force commander, saw Thimayya off.

No South Korean official showed up at Seoul City Air Base for the Thimayya departure. But Mayor Kim Tae Son and other Korean officials pointedly waited until the Thimayya ceremony ended before bidding Young goodbye.

Biggest Chain Is Being Forged at Naval Shipyard

Boston, Feb. 23 (AP)—The largest and strongest chain ever made is being forged today at the Boston naval shipyard.

Furnaces roar and sput tongues of flame and gargantuan hammers clang on white hot steel as 360-pound links are joined in showers of glowing metal fragments.

It will be the anchor chain of the giant 60,000-ton aircraft carrier USS Forrestal, now nearing completion at Newport News, Va.

The average force of the blow delivered by the big drop forge hammer which joins the links — they are 2 ft. 4½ inches long — is rated at 36,138,176 pounds.

Breaking point of the chain is rated at "in excess of 2½ million pounds."

The chain, known as navy dielock, was invented at the yard.

While chain is being forged for the carrier, the yard's ancient ropewalk close by is turning out cordage for the navy's oldest warship in commission, the USS Constitution (Old Ironsides), launched in 1797.

Exhibit Will Be Held in New York

Woodstock, Feb. 23—Through arrangements made by Norbert Heermann, Woodstock artist, an exhibition of paintings by the late Julius Rolshoven will open at the Grand Central Art Galleries, 15 Vanderbilt avenue, New York, on Tuesday, March 9. These paintings were recently shown in the lobby of the Kingston Theatre in connection with the recent performances of Curtain at 8:40. Internationally famous for his paintings of the Taos, New Mexico Indians, Julius Rolshoven's work was shown in a memorial exhibition in 1930 in Detroit, but this will be the first memorial show in New York.

Julius Rolshoven was born in Detroit in 1858. He studied at the Chicago Art Institute, and at 16 went to Europe, studied in Dusseldorf and in Munich under Frank Duveneck, joining the famous class of 24 called "Duveneck's Boys," and in Florence, Italy. He returned to Detroit, but was back in Paris in the spring of '89 where he created his first sensational stir by winning a gold medal and the most coveted Hors de Concours for his self-portrait which now hangs in the Uffizzi Gallery in Florence. After painting, teaching and exhibiting in London for 10 years, the artist then went to live in Florence after buying and restoring to its original beauty the famous Castello del Diavolo.

The exhibition comprises more than 40 paintings and features the 12 by 17-foot canvas, the largest, titled To the Land of Sip-O-Phe, representing the passing of the American Indian to the Happy Hunting Ground, which took Rolshoven three years to complete in Santa Fe, New Mexico. Another large canvas will be The Council showing five life-size members of the Taos Tribe.

Rolshoven is represented in American Art Museums of Detroit, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Baltimore, Santa Fe, Montclair, Brooklyn, and others, in many private collections, and has been awarded many prizes and medals in this country and in Europe.

He had many exhibitions both here and abroad. and the Grand Central Art Galleries are honored to count him as one of their first member-artists.

The exhibition will continue through March 27.

Stokes Confesses He Fired Shots

Union, N. J., Feb. 23 (AP)—Alfred E. Stokes, wounded by a detective's bullet in an escape attempt, admitted he fired two shots that killed Police Sgt. Clinton E. Bond during a dairy holdup, authorities said last night.

Heavily shackled and guarded by detectives, the 21-year-old Negro was brought here from Farmville, Va., where he was captured early yesterday.

A joint statement from Louis T. Lombardi, chief of Union county detectives, and Joseph Kitchell, acting captain of Union township detectives said Stokes "told his story" at the airport in Washington, D. C.

Shortly after his capture in Farmville, Stokes made a break for freedom as two Union county detectives were taking him out of the police headquarters there. The detectives fired after shouting a warning and a bullet hit Stokes in the hip. The wound was not serious.

Stokes had been the object of a nationwide alarm as one of three men charged with Bond's murder during a holdup at the Tuscan Dairy Farm, Inc. here Feb. 12.

Two brothers, Alfred Wise, 24, and Harry Wise, 21, already were held on the charges. According to police, the Wise brothers implicated Stokes as the man who fired the fatal shots at Bond.

HISTORIC COVERED BRIDGE

Ulster county residents are interested in preserving as an historic monument the covered wooden bridge, which has spanned the Wallkill River between the towns of Esopus and Rosendale for over a hundred years.

Generally conceded to be New York State's oldest covered bridge of its type, Perrine's Bridge, as it is known, has been closed to vehicular traffic for the past 20 years.

When the Thruway is completed it will cross the Wallkill about 150 feet from the covered bridge, placing it within sight of the many thousands who will use this new and modern highway.

How many will leave the great highway where endless cars go whizzing by as if propelled by some strange madness to get away from the speed of the modern world to explore the rare treasures of this span which served the people of another age?

Perrine's Bridge was built at a time when the nearby vicinity was humming with activity of sawmills and gristmills. Does this remind us of the old maxim that says, "The mills of the gods grind slowly?"

This century-old covered bridge is more than just an old structure. It is a museum of antiquity.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK

Brotherhood is like the weather. Nearly everybody talks about it.

There isn't much any of us can do about rain or snow. But there's a lot all of us can do about Brotherhood.

Of course, we pay it lip service. We know that our Constitution gives everybody civil rights, including freedom of worship and belief, freedom to think and read and speak. We all speak up for these constitutional liberties. And talk about Brotherhood, just talk, is a good thing. It keeps us thinking about our neighbors and it keeps advertising the need for understanding.

We need to remind ourselves that democracy is a system of free men banded together to keep freedom in a free country. Freedom can flourish only where there is understanding. Prejudices and discrimination, intolerance and persecution exist only where there is ignorance. That's why talk about Brotherhood is good for democracy.

Beyond talk, there is more we can do. All over America there are organizaztions helping to spread Brotherhood. There is the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and there are Councils for Human Relations in many cities. There is the great work of the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts which helps promote Brotherhood. Giving blood to the Red Cross is Brotherhood at work. For that matter, a simple "hello" to a neighbor is Brotherhood.

This is Brotherhood Week and we are more conscious right now of what Brotherhood means. It will help America and every American to make every week Brotherhood Week.

All the new automobiles boast fancy gadgets, from super automatic shifts to curving windshields to air conditioning. We're still waiting, of course, for the one that comes complete with parking space.

FAST LIFE IN ENGLAND

Americans like to believe that we excel in everything, and not least in the speed and service offered by our fast trains. Yet, according to Tracks, the publication of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, the longest non-stop run in the world is made not by an American train, but by a British. The Elizabethan does the 393-mile journey from London to Edinburgh in 6 hours, 45 minutes, just a trifle under 60 miles an hour. This is good average speed in any country, though some of our crack trains exceed it.

Incidentally, one of the famous speed records was made as far back as 1893, when locomotives were far less powerful. Engine 999, exhibited every now and then at transportation shows, pulled the Empire State Express of the New York Central for a mile at the rate of 112 miles an hour.

Such speeds do not compare with those of planes, but any motorist is bound to respect them.

THESE QUESTIONNAIRES

Having an allergy for questionnaires, I picked up one to which the Post Office Department makes important reference. Apparently the Wengel Service Corporation of Princeton, New Jersey, asked the questions and got the answers. Princeton is becoming the headquarters for all this question and answer business.

The question is:

"Do you think the Post Office Department ought to take in enough money from postage to pay all its costs, or is it all right if it doesn't take in enough to pay all its costs?"

The only sensible answer to the first part of the question is, yes. Nobody could give any other answer. Of course, the Post Office should take in as much money as it can and every American would say, Amen. Nothing in this question says anything about how it should be done, by eliminating inefficiencies, by improving the service, by cutting out bad bookkeeping which loads expenses on the Post Office and that should go to other departments. Nothing is said about anything, except, do the citizens want the Post Office to stop losing money?

". . . is it all right if it doesn't take in enough to pay all its costs?"

It is a kind of quarrelsome question: If you don't want me to make money, what do you want me to do? It is a queer sort of question which nobody can really answer, although 14 per cent did say that it did not matter much to them one way or the other. It is a little hard to convince some of our citizens that any branch of our government ought to pay its way. After all, nobody knows offhand of any department that does.

But to get back to questionnaires, this one is so loaded in one direction that it is like a Soviet election. The vote is Da under any circumstances. Precisely how do you say No! to the above question the way it is put.

The statisticians report that 78 per cent of those who were asked questions replied, "Ought to take in enough." How many were asked? It says that they were in 200 cities and towns as well as in all 48 states and the District of Columbia. But how many were sampled? Kinsey reached absolutely conclusive beyond doubt conclusions by sampling 5,940 women out of a nation of 160,000,000 persons. Kinsey has indicated a new morality, a new family system based on this tiny sample. What sample did the Wengel Service Corporation of Princeton, New Jersey, use to decide that most Americans want the Post Office to raise its rates because it "ought to take in enough money from postage to pay all its costs?"

Did the questioner present the questioned with any kind of a plan for making the Post Office self-supporting? Was any explanation offered as to the distribution of increases of postal rates? Or did the questioner go boldly up to the proverbial man on the street and say:

"Buddy, I want to ask you a question."

"Who are you?" asked John Citizen.

"Oh! I'm just a question man, working out of Princeton, New Jersey. We go around asking questions. I'm supposed to pick out a man around 40, married, works in a bank, for an insurance company or is a junior executive. You look that kind. Are you?"

"How did you guess?" John Citizens says in surprise.

"Well, it's like this. These days everybody wears white shirts, so that doesn't help much. But you wear a hat. So that proves you're through with high school and junior college and are probably married. It looks like a Homburg, which only a junior executive or a junior banker would wear—the bosses no longer giving a dam what they look like. So I pick on you. Do you mind?"

"Ahem!" says John Citizen, looking important. "Ask your question!"

So the questioner asks the aforesaid question herewith already quoted and John Citizen answers:

"Naturally, as a businessman I am all for business methods. Naturally, any business must pay its own way. The Post Office is a business, isn't it?"

At this point, the questioner gently fades away. He has his answer.

Just ask yourself: How many times in your life has any questioning organization been around to ask you a question?

EPIDEMICS OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Notwithstanding the awareness and the care given by our physicians to patients with poliomyelitis, the past year saw the worst epidemic of this disease ever known. Despite the fact that polio is known to be contracted from others, and despite the fact that physicians are warning parents and the public generally that tiredness and associating with crowds of people is a hazard, this dread disease still strikes down many young and old, inflicting disabling, crippling and death.

As parents may be wondering just what they should do to protect their loved ones at this time or before an epidemic of polio (infantile paralysis still so-called), it would be well for them to try to follow the advice given by Dr. P. M. Stimson in Postgraduate Medicine. The family physician will agree with this advice. Polio epidemics, while occurring usually in late summer and early autumn, may occur at any time.

"Keeping the patient quietly in his own bed at home and avoiding the fatigue and tension incident to transportation and to the first few days in hospital are in line with the dictum that rest, both physical and mental, is the most important factor in the early care of patients with poliomyelitis. There must be a careful determination as to which patients may be kept at home and which should be sent to a hospital." Of course, if complications arise during home treatment, the patient should be sent to hospital immedately.

Among the patients kept quietly at home are patients who are only "suspect" and not particularly ill. "Patients with definite sickness, sore throat, and muscle pains or stiffness are better at home. Even when there is evidence of paralysis, they are better at home until the acute phase of the illness has passed, that is, 7 to 10 days, and then admitted to hospital for physiotherapy — heat, massage, passive movements of arms and legs.

"The essential or necessary feature of home treatment is rest and peace of body and mind. Fever may be controlled with aspirin and an adequate intake of fluids. If there is any evidence of involvement of the back, the bed may be made flat with bedboards between the springs and mattress." These bedboards are not expensive and may be purchased from surgical supply houses or even department stores. Sometimes the leaves of a dining table may be used to keep the bed flat.

Sleep is the best method of treatment for early care of poliomyelitis and should never be interrupted.

"Moist heat will relieve general muscle tenderness." Antibiotics (germ killers like penicillin and the sulfa drugs) are of value in difficult breathing when catheterization is necessary, and when there is an increase in the white corpuscles of the blood (a sign of active inflammation).

Asthma

Sufferers with asthma will be interested in Dr. Barton's booklet entitled "Asthma," which may be obtained by sending 25 cents, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to the Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—There are a number of congressional couples in Washington who are square-dancing addicts. They like to let their hair down to mountain music, even if it's in the dignified Congressional Club, ten minutes away from the White House. A large part of the fun for the congressmen is taking off their coats and ties and showing off their loud plaid shirts. For their wives, it's a chance to show off in ginghams.

Stars of the troupe are Rep. and Mrs. Shepard Crumpacker of Indiana. They swing partners not only at the Congressional Club but also at the Potomac Appalachian Trail Club. Representative Crumpacker even taught "calling" in South Bend. The Crumpackers have a big collection of square-dance records, and sometimes roll up the rugs in their home for a hoe-down.

Mrs. Errett Scrivner says that she and her Kansas congressman husband are both past 50 and getting a little old for it, but still indulge in square-dance sessions at every opportunity.

Other star congressional square dancers include the Belchers of Oklahoma, Dollivers of Iowa, Ostertags of New York, McGregors of Ohio, Beamers of Indiana, Nicholsons of Massachusetts and the Rielmans of New York.

Chop-Stick Jane

Mme. S. H. Tan, wife of the minister-counsellor at the Chinese embassy in Washington, is doing a little diplomatic work on her own. She conducts Chinese cooking classes at the Y.W.C.A. in Washington, teaching American wives not only how to prepare Chinese delicacies, but how to use chop sticks.

Philosophic about cooking, the diplomatic wife says anyone who's interested can master any dish. The only requirement, says Mme. Tan, is that you have to be interested.

Among her specialties are egg drop soup, chicken bamboo, sweet-sour pork, eight precious pudding, eggs foo young, spring rolls, and of course — fried shrimp chow mein and birds' nest soup.

Hen Set-Down Strike

Farm scientists have been completely stopped in their efforts to make hens lay more eggs, says Dr. Byron T. Shaw, administrator of the Department of Agriculture's Research Service. Up until 1935, egg-laying records were broken year after year at the Connecticut State Agricultural College experiment station. Since then the hens have simply refused to establish any new highs of production.

The 1935 record was 240 eggs per hen per year, for all hens in the Connecticut contest. In 1949 there was one White Leghorn biddy that produced 353 eggs and a Rhode Island that laid 351. Those records have never been broken. But the New York state average for all hens—highest in the nation—is 234, for 1952-53.

Coffeeless Days

Supporting his resolution that no coffee should be sold in Capitol restaurants on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays until the retail price of coffee goes below 90 cents a pound, Rep. Craig Hosmer of California declared:

"There has been some ridicule of the idea of substituting milk for coffee on these strike or boycott days. Some people say the price of milk is too high. But even so . . . we could drink up the dairy surpluses while driving down the price of coffee."

Returnable Refugees

Lack of money and inability to get more European governments to sign "certificates of returnability" are the two things that have slowed up President Eisenhower's refugee relief program, says Robert C. Alexander, State Department administrator in charge. The full program calls for admission of 209,000 refugees to the U. S. by the end of 1956.

Congress gave $3 million to get the program started last year. An additional $1.5 million deficiency appropriation is now before Congress to carry on the work till June 30, 1954. For the next fiscal year's work $10 million has been requested.

This money has to be divided among five agencies, all of whom have a finger in the operation. They are State Department, for visas, Public Health Service, Department of Labor's U. S. Employment Service, Army for security screening and Treasury for transportation loans.

Only three countries have agreed to take back their refugees in case it is discovered at any time in the future that there was fraud connected with the refugee's admission to the U. S. They are Italy, Greece and The Netherlands.

Handling of Morals Cases as 'Risks' Is Hit by Kennan in Written Comment

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 22—George Kennan, chairman of the State Department's policy planning staff under the Truman-Acheson administration, has expressed himself in criticism of the way the government has been handling the cases of those in government employ who are charged with loose morals. Because of the controversy that has arisen about the discharge of "secuility risks" from the government and the frequent reference in print to morals cases, what Mr. Kennan has to say is of current interest.

Mr. Kennan's speech before the annual Christian Conference on the Relevance of Religious belief to problems of everyday living was originally delivered last December off-the-record at Princeton University. In the Feb. 12 issue of "The Princeton Alumni Weekly," however, it is stated that Mr. Kennan reconsidered and allowed his address to be printed. The section of Mr. Kennan's speech dealing with criticism of the government is as follows:

"Let us, for the love of God, keep out of the ranks of the finger-pointing holier-thous — the people who sublimate their own sex urge in the peculiarly nasty and sadistic practice of snooping on others and embarrassments of others in this most excruciating and difficult of problems.

"In particular, let us not fall into the sort of immature Philistinism that seems to have taken possession of our government in its later-day preoccupation with the morals of the public servant. What has gone on in Washington in these recent months in this regard has brought the greatest dismay and disgust to many of us older civil servants not only because it seems to rest on a very faulty understanding of human nature, but because it implies the existence in our midst of a race of angels, disguised as security officers, equipped to pass judgment on the sinful remainder of mankind. Surely nothing could be more un-Christian than this.

In another passage Mr. Kennan discusses the attitude of present-day Christians toward sex problems and says:

"It seems to me that the greatest sin to which Christians are susceptible in questions of sex is really the sin of intolerance and lack of charity. Whoever makes other people's personal problems more bitter and more hopeless by forgetting the cruelty of the conflict and by holding those people up to ignominy and censure for their failures and stumblings—he, in my opinion, is the man whose conscience should really burn him. He is the man who has the most to fear for the safety of his soul. He is guilty of the deadly sin of pride, and I suspect that there is none deadlier in the eyes of our maker."

The problem of loose morals among government employes was discussed by John Puerifoy, Deputy Secretary of State, on Feb. 28, 1950, before a Senate appropriations committee, when he disclosed that 91 persons had been eased out of the Department of State in the Truman administration in cases involving morals, including homosexuality. In this category of "security risks" he placed "a habitual alcoholic or a person who has any other physical or moral defect which could be preyed upon or which might be used by somebody who was attempting to penetrate into the department."

R. W. Scott McLeod, top security officer in the Department of State in the Eisenhower-Dulles administration, discussed the same subject in a copyrighted interview in "U. S. News & World Report," in its Feb. 12, 1954, issue, as follows:

"Q.—Does the average person, when he is told he must leave for one reason or another, carry that any further—does he ask for the right to appeal, or just resign and accept it?

"A: I think that probably the ration would be quite similar to the number of people charged with crimes who plead guilty as against those who stand trial. As you know, in a preponderance of cases the fellow pleads guilty. I don't think there is a single exception in the homo-sexual cases. The investigation usually terminates in an interview, and the interview elicits a confession which results in a resignation.

"Q: Did sex perversion turn out to be a problem, after all the talk?

"A: Since 1947, when they started keeping figures on them, there have been more than 500 homosexuals terminated in the department.

"Q: Isn't that unusual, percentagewise, for that number of human beings?

"A: I don't think it is an unusual percentage if it were compared to the general population, although I know of no reliable statistics on which to base that comparison, but it certainly is an intolerable percentage in a sensitive agency.

"Q: Is it your feeling that homosexuals would be susceptible to blackmail?

"A: Well, that seems to me to be self-evident."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb. 22—You may say "well, here goes Pegler on unions again," but I am about to introduce a revolutionary idea which should clarify the minds of a great many of us who have come to regard the unions "with all their faults" as an indispensable American institutions. I am about to say that the faults of this unionism are so great that it must be brought under control of the public government. I think it must be wiped out and replaced with something else.

It was said, with some truth, years ago, that Wall Street, a generic name for big business and concentrated wealth, was the master of the government, particularly of Congress and the courts. The same is true today of unions. They are a vast corruption, administered largely by men who are ignorant not only in the cultural sense but with particular reference to the constitution and the political principles of our nation.

I have written, and I am confident that the fact could be demonstrated by good witnesses, that one of the two main reasons why the "government" has to pay a portion of the rent for "low-income" and "middle-income" classes, is that unions acting on their own part and unions in collusion with manufacturers and suppliers of building materials, run up the cost of building by about one-third. Knock off that third, and the cost of building a three-room or four-room apartment will come down to a price at which these "classes" can afford to pay their own rent without subsidy.

This extortion by unions and their accomplices of the building materials business is putting the federal and state governments into the land-lord business. Carried to the extreme, this will reproduce here the situation that exists in Russia and other Socialist countries where the people exist to serve the state in return for a living. Already we have experimented with free food and clothing as early whimsies of the Roosevelt reign. We may do it again and make it permanent if in coming out of the war business we hit a slump.

The simple idea of wiping out the extortion has not occurred seriously to any advocate of subsidized housing. The further fact that it is senseless to confiscate wages by the income tax to such an extent that the people can't fully pay their own rent is equally remote from the minds of those who clamor for "public housing."

Can your mind grasp a picture of the United States without the AF of L and the CIO and without John L. Lewis? Fundamentally these powers are no part of our country. They grew because our people deceived themselves into a belief that unions were holy fraternities of human beings who were virtuous because they did rough work with rough hands. These early union members were neither more nor less virtuous than any other element on that account but that is just a reminder, not an argument to the point.

The disadvantage of the individual worker dealing with a huge corporation was plain and therefore we sympathized with the concept of unionism to equalize the worker with the boss.

The opposition immediately advanced many objections but we thought that because it had selfish interests to serve, its arguments were no good. So we let this country in for the scourge of unionism which has now become a burden and a menace. The opposition said "well, but under a flat wage scale, the indolent, inefficient worker will get the same as the diligent, competent man."

Well, isn't that true? They said that if you gave one relatively small union the power to close a key plant by a picket-line, to keep it shut, those few workers, however good or bad their cause, could paralyze a whole community and throw almost everyone else out of work. That happened in Flint, Mich., where a union threw the switches in the powerhouse. The elevators in the hospitals used to carry unconscious patients back to bed from the operating rooms, and even the lights in the operating rooms, went dead. And, actually, there was no vote for a strike by the powerhouse workers. They would have worked as usual but the "union" pulled the switches and then the interlopers from out of town who spoke for the union went into hiding so that the city manager could not find them to "negotiate." Nobody dared close the switches because unions were above the law. So the town was dead, as far as electric light and power were concerned until the unioneers decided that Flint had been taught a lesson.

This could happen again any day. In fact, similar events are daily routine. Pickets shoot men for driving trucks without union permission. A trucking company is driven out of Alabama to take refuge in Georgia. A hatters' union takes it upon itself, by decision of a few unioneers with offices in New York, to prevent a new hat industry from settling in Tennessee or Kansas which are sovereign American states. The union undertakes to chain certain hat factories to Connecticut because its members there cannot conveniently pack up and follow their jobs to Tennessee or Kansas.

A similar movement of textile factories from Massachusetts to the southern tier meets similar resistance. The Labor Relations Board, by autocratic order of a petty bureaucrat, tries to prevent this flow of industry and commerce from one state to another by pronouncing a "sentence" which would make the expense of the move greater than the possible profit. Senator Jack Kennedy, of Massachusetts, went into the southern tier to argue against the economic wisdom of the move and he did have some points which impressed some southern industrialists.

But the unions and the Labor Relations Board never take chances on arguments. All they know is power. The club. So the new industrial south is coming into another sectional scrap with the old industrial north fomented by unions which never pay any taxes, hold no mandate from any representative element of the people and are both irresponsible and arrogant.

These unions represent only a small proportion of our workers, but they challenge and abuse all of us. They are supposed to represent even those few only as business agents, to agree on wages, hours and working conditions. Actually, their "members" are now subjects and many of them are kept in thrall by the closed shop which is supposed to be illegal. Incidentally, the worst offender in that respect is the musicians union and, further dramatizing the flagrancy, Chief Justice Warren recently wrote warm greetings to Jimmy Petrillo and the union, all knowingly.

I do not know what the new form of workers' protective aggregation should be. I do know, however, that the present kind is frightfully wasteful of human life, taking man-hours of energy at work as a measure of human life. It is too big and rich and abusive to be tolerated by a free people and a sovereign government. It must be broken.

THESE QUESTIONNAIRES

Having an allergy for questionnaires, I picked up one to which the Post Office Department makes important reference. ". . . is it all right if it doesn't take in enough to pay all its costs?"

It is a kind of quarrelsome question: If you don't want me to make money, what do you want me to do? It is a queer sort of question which nobody can really answer, although 14 per cent did say that it did not matter much to them one way or the other. It is a little hard to convince some of our citizens that any branch of our government ought to pay its way. After all, nobody knows offhand of any department that does.

But to get back to questionnaires, this one is so loaded in one direction that it is like a Soviet election. The vote is Da under any circumstances. Precisely how do you say No! to the above question the way it is put.

The statisticians report that 78 per cent of those who were asked questions replied, "Ought to take in enough." How many were asked? It says that they were in 200 cities and towns as well as in all 48 states and the District of Columbia. But how many were sampled? Kinsey reached absolutely conclusive beyond doubt conclusions by sampling 5,940 women out of a nation of 160,000,000 persons. Kinsey has indicated a new morality, a new family system based on this tiny sample. What sample did the Wengel Service Corporation of Princeton, New Jersey, use to decide that most Americans want the Post Office to raise its rates because it "ought to take in enough money from postage to pay all its costs?"

Did the questioner present the questioned with any kind of a plan for making the Post Office self-supporting? Was any explanation offered as to the distribution of increases of postal rates? Or did the questioner go boldly up to the proverbial man on the street and say:

"Buddy, I want to ask you a question."

"Who are you?" asked John Citizen.

"Oh! I'm just a question man, working out of Princeton, New Jersey. We go around asking questions. I'm supposed to pick out a man around 40, married, works in a bank, for an insurance company or is a junior executive. You look that kind. Are you?"

"How did you guess?" John Citizens says in surprise.

"Well, it's like this. These days everybody wears white shirts, so that doesn't help much. But you wear a hat. So that proves you're through with high school and junior college and are probably married. It looks like a Homburg, which only a junior executive or a junior banker would wear—the bosses no longer giving a dam what they look like. So I pick on you. Do you mind?"

"Ahem!" says John Citizen, looking important. "Ask your question!"

So the questioner asks the aforesaid question herewith already quoted and John Citizen answers:

"Naturally, as a businessman I am all for business methods. Naturally, any business must pay its own way. The Post Office is a business, isn't it?"

At this point, the questioner gently fades away. He has his answer.

Just ask yourself: How many times in your life has any questioning organization been around to ask you a question?

EPIDEMICS OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Notwithstanding the awareness and the care given by our physicians to patients with poliomyelitis, the past year saw the worst epidemic of this disease ever known. Despite the fact that polio is known to be contracted from others, and despite the fact that physicians are warning parents and the public generally that tiredness and associating with crowds of people is a hazard, this dread disease still strikes down many young and old, inflicting disabling, crippling and death.

As parents may be wondering just what they should do to protect their loved ones at this time or before an epidemic of polio (infantile paralysis still so-called), it would be well for them to try to follow the advice given by Dr. P. M. Stimson in Postgraduate Medicine. The family physician will agree with this advice. Polio epidemics, while occurring usually in late summer and early autumn, may occur at any time.

"Keeping the patient quietly in his own bed at home and avoiding the fatigue and tension incident to transportation and to the first few days in hospital are in line with the dictum that rest, both physical and mental, is the most important factor in the early care of patients with poliomyelitis. There must be a careful determination as to which patients may be kept at home and which should be sent to a hospital." Of course, if complications arise during home treatment, the patient should be sent to hospital immedately.

Among the patients kept quietly at home are patients who are only "suspect" and not particularly ill. "Patients with definite sickness, sore throat, and muscle pains or stiffness are better at home. Even when there is evidence of paralysis, they are better at home until the acute phase of the illness has passed, that is, 7 to 10 days, and then admitted to hospital for physiotherapy — heat, massage, passive movements of arms and legs.

"The essential or necessary feature of home treatment is rest and peace of body and mind. Fever may be controlled with aspirin and an adequate intake of fluids. If there is any evidence of involvement of the back, the bed may be made flat with bedboards between the springs and mattress." These bedboards are not expensive and may be purchased from surgical supply houses or even department stores. Sometimes the leaves of a dining table may be used to keep the bed flat.

Sleep is the best method of treatment for early care of poliomyelitis and should never be interrupted.

"Moist heat will relieve general muscle tenderness." Antibiotics (germ killers like penicillin and the sulfa drugs) are of value in difficult breathing when catheterization is necessary, and when there is an increase in the white corpuscles of the blood (a sign of active inflammation).

Asthma

Sufferers with asthma will be interested in Dr. Barton's booklet entitled "Asthma," which may be obtained by sending 25 cents, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to the Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—There are a number of congressional couples in Washington who are square-dancing addicts. They like to let their hair down to mountain music, even if it's in the dignified Congressional Club, ten minutes away from the White House. A large part of the fun for the congressmen is taking off their coats and ties and showing off their loud plaid shirts. For their wives, it's a chance to show off in ginghams.

Stars of the troupe are Rep. and Mrs. Shepard Crumpacker of Indiana. They swing partners not only at the Congressional Club but also at the Potomac Appalachian Trail Club. Representative Crumpacker even taught "calling" in South Bend. The Crumpackers have a big collection of square-dance records, and sometimes roll up the rugs in their home for a hoe-down.

Mrs. Errett Scrivner says that she and her Kansas congressman husband are both past 50 and getting a little old for it, but still indulge in square-dance sessions at every opportunity.

Other star congressional square dancers include the Belchers of Oklahoma, Dollivers of Iowa, Ostertags of New York, McGregors of Ohio, Beamers of Indiana, Nicholsons of Massachusetts and the Rielmans of New York.

Chop-Stick Jane

Mme. S. H. Tan, wife of the minister-counsellor at the Chinese embassy in Washington, is doing a little diplomatic work on her own. She conducts Chinese cooking classes at the Y.W.C.A. in Washington, teaching American wives not only how to prepare Chinese delicacies, but how to use chop sticks.

Philosophic about cooking, the diplomatic wife says anyone who's interested can master any dish. The only requirement, says Mme. Tan, is that you have to be interested.

Among her specialties are egg drop soup, chicken bamboo, sweet-sour pork, eight precious pudding, eggs foo young, spring rolls, and of course — fried shrimp chow mein and birds' nest soup.

Hen Set-Down Strike

Farm scientists have been completely stopped in their efforts to make hens lay more eggs, says Dr. Byron T. Shaw, administrator of the Department of Agriculture's Research Service. Up until 1935, egg-laying records were broken year after year at the Connecticut State Agricultural College experiment station. Since then the hens have simply refused to establish any new highs of production.

The 1935 record was 240 eggs per hen per year, for all hens in the Connecticut contest. In 1949 there was one White Leghorn biddy that produced 353 eggs and a Rhode Island that laid 351. Those records have never been broken. But the New York state average for all hens—highest in the nation—is 234, for 1952-53.

Coffeeless Days

Supporting his resolution that no coffee should be sold in Capitol restaurants on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays until the retail price of coffee goes below 90 cents a pound, Rep. Craig Hosmer of California declared:

"There has been some ridicule of the idea of substituting milk for coffee on these strike or boycott days. Some people say the price of milk is too high. But even so . . . we could drink up the dairy surpluses while driving down the price of coffee."

Returnable Refugees

Lack of money and inability to get more European governments to sign "certificates of returnability" are the two things that have slowed up President Eisenhower's refugee relief program, says Robert C. Alexander, State Department administrator in charge. The full program calls for admission of 209,000 refugees to the U. S. by the end of 1956.

Congress gave $3 million to get the program started last year. An additional $1.5 million deficiency appropriation is now before Congress to carry on the work till June 30, 1954. For the next fiscal year's work $10 million has been requested.

This money has to be divided among five agencies, all of whom have a finger in the operation. They are State Department, for visas, Public Health Service, Department of Labor's U. S. Employment Service, Army for security screening and Treasury for transportation loans.

Only three countries have agreed to take back their refugees in case it is discovered at any time in the future that there was fraud connected with the refugee's admission to the U. S. They are Italy, Greece and The Netherlands.

Handling of Morals Cases as 'Risks' Is Hit by Kennan in Written Comment

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 22—George Kennan, chairman of the State Department's policy planning staff under the Truman-Acheson administration, has expressed himself in criticism of the way the government has been handling the cases of those in government employ who are charged with loose morals. Because of the controversy that has arisen about the discharge of "secuity risks" from the government and the frequent reference in print to morals cases, what Mr. Kennan has to say is of current interest.

Mr. Kennan's speech before the annual Christian Conference on the Relevance of Religious belief to problems of everyday living was originally delivered last December off-the-record at Princeton University. In the Feb. 12 issue of "The Princeton Alumni Weekly," however, it is stated that Mr. Kennan reconsidered and allowed his address to be printed. The section of Mr. Kennan's speech dealing with criticism of the government is as follows:

"Let us, for the love of God, keep out of the ranks of the finger-pointing holier-thous — the people who sublimate their own sex urge in the peculiarly nasty and sadistic practice of snooping on others and embarrassments of others in this most excruciating and difficult of problems.

"In particular, let us not fall into the sort of immature Philistinism that seems to have taken possession of our government in its later-day preoccupation with the morals of the public servant. What has gone on in Washington in these recent months in this regard has brought the greatest dismay and disgust to many of us older civil servants not only because it seems to rest on a very faulty understanding of human nature, but because it implies the existence in our midst of a race of angels, disguised as security officers, equipped to pass judgment on the sinful remainder of mankind. Surely nothing could be more un-Christian than this.

In another passage Mr. Kennan discusses the attitude of present-day Christians toward sex problems and says:

"It seems to me that the greatest sin to which Christians are susceptible in questions of sex is really the sin of intolerance and lack of charity. Whoever makes other people's personal problems more bitter and more hopeless by forgetting the cruelty of the conflict and by holding those people up to ignominy and censure for their failures and stumblings—he, in my opinion, is the man whose conscience should really burn him. He is the man who has the most to fear for the safety of his soul. He is guilty of the deadly sin of pride, and I suspect that there is none deadlier in the eyes of our maker."

The problem of loose morals among government employes was discussed by John Puerifoy, Deputy Secretary of State, on Feb. 28, 1950, before a Senate appropriations committee, when he disclosed that 91 persons had been eased out of the Department of State in the Truman administration in cases involving morals, including homosexuality. In this category of "security risks" he placed "a habitual alcoholic or a person who has any other physical or moral defect which could be preyed upon or which might be used by somebody who was attempting to penetrate into the department."

R. W. Scott McLeod, top security officer in the Department of State in the Eisenhower-Dulles administration, discussed the same subject in a copyrighted interview in "U. S. News & World Report," in its Feb. 12, 1954, issue, as follows:

"Q.—Does the average person, when he is told he must leave for one reason or another, carry that any further—does he ask for the right to appeal, or just resign and accept it?

"A: I think that probably the ration would be quite similar to the number of people charged with crimes who plead guilty as against those who stand trial. As you know, in a preponderance of cases the fellow pleads guilty. I don't think there is a single exception in the homo-sexual cases. The investigation usually terminates in an interview, and the interview elicits a confession which results in a resignation.

"Q: Did sex perversion turn out to be a problem, after all the talk?

"A: Since 1947, when they started keeping figures on them, there have been more than 500 homosexuals terminated in the department.

"Q: Isn't that unusual, percentagewise, for that number of human beings?

"A: I don't think it is an unusual percentage if it were compared to the general population, although I know of no reliable statistics on which to base that comparison, but it certainly is an intolerable percentage in a sensitive agency.

"Q: Is it your feeling that homosexuals would be susceptible to blackmail?

"A: Well, that seems to me to be self-evident."

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb. 22—You may say "well, here goes Pegler on unions again," but I am about to introduce a revolutionary idea which should clarify the minds of a great many of us who have come to regard the unions "with all their faults" as an indispensable American institutions. I am about to say that the faults of this unionism are so great that it must be brought under control of the public government. I think it must be wiped out and replaced with something else.

It was said, with some truth, years ago, that Wall Street, a generic name for big business and concentrated wealth, was the master of the government, particularly of Congress and the courts. The same is true today of unions. They are a vast corruption, administered largely by men who are ignorant not only in the cultural sense but with particular reference to the constitution and the political principles of our nation.

I have written, and I am confident that the fact could be demonstrated by good witnesses, that one of the two main reasons why the "government" has to pay a portion of the rent for "low-income" and "middle-income" classes, is that unions acting on their own part and unions in collusion with manufacturers and suppliers of building materials, run up the cost of building by about one-third. Knock off that third, and the cost of building a three-room or four-room apartment will come down to a price at which these "classes" can afford to pay their own rent without subsidy.

This extortion by unions and their accomplices of the building materials business is putting the federal and state governments into the land-lord business. Carried to the extreme, this will reproduce here the situation that exists in Russia and other Socialist countries where the people exist to serve the state in return for a living. Already we have experimented with free food and clothing as early whimsies of the Roosevelt reign. We may do it again and make it permanent if in coming out of the war business we hit a slump.

The simple idea of wiping out the extortion has not occurred seriously to any advocate of subsidized housing. The further fact that it is senseless to confiscate wages by the income tax to such an extent that the people can't fully pay their own rent is equally remote from the minds of those who clamor for "public housing."

Can your mind grasp a picture of the United States without the AF of L and the CIO and without John L. Lewis? Fundamentally these powers are no part of our country. They grew because our people deceived themselves into a belief that unions were holy fraternities of human beings who were virtuous because they did rough work with rough hands. These early union members were neither more nor less virtuous than any other element on that account but that is just a reminder, not an argument to the point.

The disadvantage of the individual worker dealing with a huge corporation was plain and therefore we sympathized with the concept of unionism to equalize the worker with the boss.

The opposition immediately advanced many objections but we thought that because it had selfish interests to serve, its arguments were no good. So we let this country in for the scourge of unionism which has now become a burden and a menace. The opposition said "well, but under a flat wage scale, the indolent, inefficient worker will get the same as the diligent, competent man."

Well, isn't that true? They said that if you gave one relatively small union the power to close a key plant by a picket-line, to keep it shut, those few workers, however good or bad their cause, could paralyze a whole community and throw almost everyone else out of work. That happened in Flint, Mich., where a union threw the switches in the powerhouse. The elevators in the hospitals used to carry unconscious patients back to bed from the operating rooms, and even the lights in the operating rooms, went dead. And, actually, there was no vote for a strike by the powerhouse workers. They would have worked as usual but the "union" pulled the switches and then the interlopers from out of town who spoke for the union went into hiding so that the city manager could not find them to "negotiate." Nobody dared close the switches because unions were above the law. So the town was dead, as far as electric light and power were concerned until the unioneers decided that Flint had been taught a lesson.

This could happen again any day. In fact, similar events are daily routine. Pickets shoot men for driving trucks without union permission. A trucking company is driven out of Alabama to take refuge in Georgia. A hatters' union takes it upon itself, by decision of a few unioneers with offices in New York, to prevent a new hat industry from settling in Tennessee or Kansas which are sovereign American states. The union undertakes to chain certain hat factories to Connecticut because its members there cannot conveniently pack up and follow their jobs to Tennessee or Kansas.

A similar movement of textile factories from Massachusetts to the southern tier meets similar resistance. The Labor Relations Board, by autocratic order of a petty bureaucrat, tries to prevent this flow of industry and commerce from one state to another by pronouncing a "sentence" which would make the expense of the move greater than the possible profit. Senator Jack Kennedy, of Massachusetts, went into the southern tier to argue against the economic wisdom of the move and he did have some points which impressed some southern industrialists.

But the unions and the Labor Relations Board never take chances on arguments. All they know is power. The club. So the new industrial south is coming into another sectional scrap with the old industrial north fomented by unions which never pay any taxes, hold no mandate from any representative element of the people and are both irresponsible and arrogant.

These unions represent only a small proportion of our workers, but they challenge and abuse all of us. They are supposed to represent even those few only as business agents, to agree on wages, hours and working conditions. Actually, their "members" are now subjects and many of them are kept in thrall by the closed shop which is supposed to be illegal. Incidentally, the worst offender in that respect is the musicians union and, further dramatizing the flagrancy, Chief Justice Warren recently wrote warm greetings to Jimmy Petrillo and the union, all knowingly.

I do not know what the new form of workers' protective aggregation should be. I do know, however, that the present kind is frightfully wasteful of human life, taking man-hours of energy at work as a measure of human life. It is too big and rich and abusive to be tolerated by a free people and a sovereign government. It must be broken.

Gad, That's History!

Gads Hill, Mo. (AP)—This town is remembered by the old folks and historians as the site of one of Jesse James' train robberies, the first such robbery west of the Mississippi river. But it had one other claim to infamy, too. A resident was riding along a road in his buggy before the turn of the century and some irate neighbors reined in, grabbed him and cut off his ears. They stuffed the auditory appendages in his vest pockets and counseled him to quit gossiping about the womenfolk in the area. A recent historian reports the fellow never was very talkative after that.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Be an Expert: Figure Answer

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Which card would you back to win the last trick in this hand?" asks Terence Reese, the great English expert. South is playing the hand at a contract of six hearts, which is ice cold. It is more difficult, however, to win all thirteen tricks; and Reese's question poses quite a problem.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the jack of spades. Dummy played low, and East signaled with the seven of spades. South won with the ace of spades, making the mental note that East had the king of spades, and that West had led from the jack-ten.

After some thought, South led six rounds of trumps, discarding the seven and queen of clubs from the dummy. He then led out three rounds of diamonds, ending the dummy.

At this point, dummy had two spades and the ace of clubs. South held two clubs and one trump.

Each of the opponents felt compelled to save two spades. If East had saved only one spade, declarer could ruff out the king of spades by leading the nine of spades from the dummy. Dummy would then take the last two tricks with the ace of clubs and queen of spades.

If West had saved only one spade, declarer could have led the queen of spades from dummy to pick up the ten and capture East's king at the same time. Dummy would then win the last two tricks with the ace of clubs and the nine of spades.

Since both defenders saved two spades, each could save only one club. South therefore laid down the ace of clubs from the dummy, dropping the ten of clubs from his hand with pardonable showmanship. He then ruffed one of dummy's spades and won the last trick with the deuce of clubs from his own hand.

Primaries Are Set For Mid-September

Albany, Feb. 23 (AP) — Gov. Dewey and Republican legislative leaders have set Sept. 14 as the primary election date and Sept. 21-23 as the dates for the party conventions.

Bills to carry out these decisions are to be introduced soon.

The Sept. 14 primary date is the latest since Dewey became governor in 1943.

There were reports that the governor and GOP legislative chiefs set the date late partly to make the formal gubernatorial campaign period short, partly to cut the cost and partly to reduce Democratic opportunities to build up their own candidate.

A Republican legislative leader denied this. He said the late date was fixed "because no one wants a primary in the summer" and "the Labor Day weekend and Jewish holidays were factors."

The formal date of the start of the gubernatorial campaign actually means little. The Democratic and Republican parties already are campaigning—in and out of the Legislature, in many different ways.

Woman's Fear Is Cited as Reason She Shot Husband

Thornwood, Feb. 23 (AP)—A housewife allegedly shot her husband to death last night in the belief he was suffering from cancer. She also killed their dog and wounded herself.

Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick E. Weeks said Mrs. Margaret Cannon, 55, seemed to feel the shooting "was an act of mercy." A phone call from her brought police to the Cannon home in Westchester county, where the tragedy was discovered.

Her husband, Thomas, 54, lay in the living room, shot in the temple.

Weeks said she was hysterical and that police talked only briefly with her.

She was quoted as saying her husband, an accountant, told her: "I've got cancer. Shoot me."

Police said she indicated her husband had been suffering from a skin ailment and recently had all his teeth removed.

Dead in Cellar

The Cannon's Gordon setter, Bunky, lay dead in the cellar. Police said he apparently had been shot with the same .25 caliber automatic. Mrs. Cannon was quoted as saying the dog also had been ill and that she decided "to put him out of his misery."

Weeks said she apparently shot the dog first.

Mrs. Cannon had a bullet in her left side. A patrolman asked her if she shot herself, officials said, and she nodded.

Medical Examiner Dr. Victoria Bradess said the woman appeared disturbed, and ordered her sent to Grasslands Hospital at East View. Her condition was described as not serious.

A daughter, Margaret, was not at home. A married daughter, Mrs. Joan Rothschild, lives in Long Beach, N. Y.

Gad, That's History!

Gads Hill, Mo. (AP)—This town is remembered by the old folks and historians as the site of one of Jesse James' train robberies, the first such robbery west of the Mississippi river. But it had one other claim to infamy, too. A resident was riding along a road in his buggy before the turn of the century and some irate neighbors reined in, grabbed him and cut off his ears. They stuffed the auditory appendages in his vest pockets and counseled him to quit gossiping about the womenfolk in the area. A recent historian reports the fellow never was very talkative after that.

By OSWALD JACOBY

"Which card would you back to win the last trick in this hand?" asks Terence Reese, the great English expert. South is playing the hand at a contract of six hearts, which is ice cold. It is more difficult, however, to win all thirteen tricks; and Reese's question poses quite a problem.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the jack of spades. Dummy played low, and East signaled with the seven of spades. South won with the ace of spades, making the mental note that East had the king of spades, and that West had led from the jack-ten.

After some thought, South led six rounds of trumps, discarding the seven and queen of clubs from the dummy. He then led out three rounds of diamonds, ending the dummy.

At this point, dummy had two spades and the ace of clubs. South held two clubs and one trump.

Each of the opponents felt compelled to save two spades. If East had saved only one spade, declarer could ruff out the king of spades by leading the nine of spades from the dummy. Dummy would then take the last two tricks with the ace of clubs and queen of spades.

If West had saved only one spade, declarer could have led the queen of spades from dummy to pick up the ten and capture East's king at the same time. Dummy would then win the last two tricks with the ace of clubs and the nine of spades.

Since both defenders saved two spades, each could save only one club. South therefore laid down the ace of clubs from the dummy, dropping the ten of clubs from his hand with pardonable showmanship. He then ruffed one of dummy's spades and won the last trick with the deuce of clubs from his own hand.

Primaries Are Set For Mid-September

Albany, Feb. 23 (AP)—Gov. Dewey and Republican legislative leaders have set Sept. 14 as the primary election date and Sept. 21-23 as the dates for the party conventions.

Bills to carry out these decisions are to be introduced soon.

The Sept. 14 primary date is the latest since Dewey became governor in 1943.

There were reports that the governor and GOP legislative chiefs set the date late partly to make the formal gubernatorial campaign period short, partly to cut the cost and partly to reduce Democratic opportunities to build up their own candidate.

A Republican legislative leader denied this. He said the late date was fixed "because no one wants a primary in the summer" and "the Labor Day weekend and Jewish holidays were factors."

The formal date of the start of the gubernatorial campaign actually means little. The Democratic and Republican parties already are campaigning—in and out of the Legislature, in many different ways.

Woman's Fear Is Cited as Reason She Shot Husband

Thornwood, Feb. 23 (AP)—A housewife allegedly shot her husband to death last night in the belief he was suffering from cancer. She also killed their dog and wounded herself.

Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick E. Weeks said Mrs. Margaret Cannon, 55, seemed to feel the shooting "was an act of mercy." A phone call from her brought police to the Cannon home in Westchester county, where the tragedy was discovered.

Her husband, Thomas, 54, lay in the living room, shot in the temple.

Weeks said she was hysterical and that police talked only briefly with her.

She was quoted as saying her husband, an accountant, told her: "I've got cancer. Shoot me."

Police said she indicated her husband had been suffering from a skin ailment and recently had all his teeth removed.

The Cannon's Gordon setter, Bunky, lay dead in the cellar. Police said he apparently had been shot with the same .25 caliber automatic. Mrs. Cannon was quoted as saying the dog also had been ill and that she decided "to put him out of his misery."

Why compulsory auto insurance is bad for you

Let's look at the record

Twenty-seven years ago Massachusetts enacted a compulsory automobile liability insurance law. Since then Legislative Commissions and Councils of 21 states and many other Legislative Committees have studied compulsory insurance. All rejected it.

But 44 states, including New York, adopted the voluntary approach of the Safety Responsibility Law. Why have the states rejected compulsory insurance? Some typical official reports from the states give us the answer.

"Increase in . . . insurance rates"

The Maryland Commission, after studying the Massachusetts experience, reported to the State Assembly:

"Compulsory insurance will bring about an increase in the present motor vehicle liability insurance rates in Maryland resulting from the undesirable risks which the insurance companies may be required to accept . . .

"Financial responsibility laws . . . tend to decrease the automobile accident toll and promote safety by providing for the revocation of the motor vehicle licenses of the reckless and financially irresponsible motorist without penalizing the motorist who conforms to all safety regulations."

Compulsory insurance—not a safety measure

The Virginia Advisory Legislative Council stated in 1953:

"Although compulsory insurance is advocated as a safety measure, it has not proved to be. Records in Massachusetts, the only compulsory insurance state, do not indicate any improvements in safety. The state with compulsory insurance has less coverage above the minimum than states having a safety responsibility type of law.

"Actual coverage of residents in Massachusetts is not 100% because of evasion of the law, and the compulsory insurance law does not affect the non-resident."

"Not in the public interest"

In 1953, the Wisconsin Legislative Council reported:

"A compulsory law will increase insurance rates for everyone . . ."
"A compulsory law does not provide protection in all instances . . ."
"The adoption of a compulsory liability law in view of the many objections, is not in the public interest."

"Political football"

In a 1951 report, the New York State Insurance Department said:

"It is incontrovertible that the enactment of compulsory automobile insurance in Massachusetts gave birth to a political football. It is also incontrovertible that automobile insurance rate-making has been tied into political campaigns in that state."

The compulsory insurance proposal will not cover you against the following kinds of losses:

1 Uninsured out-of-state drivers causing you loss in New York State.
2 Uninsured drivers causing you loss outside New York.
3 Stolen car drivers causing you loss anywhere. (Any persons driving without permission of the owners.)
4 Drivers operating illegally without insurance causing you loss in New York State.

VOLUNTARY PLAN BEST

We now have on the books a Safety Responsibility Law. Mark the word "safety"! Under it thousands of unfit drivers have been removed from the road. The compulsory insurance bill would repeal the Safety Responsibility Law. Don't repeal that law!

The voluntary plan offered by casualty insurance companies extends the Safety Responsibility Law—provides you more protection against uninsured motorists and covers the four listed kinds of accident losses not covered by the compulsory proposal.

Why choose the compulsory way when the better voluntary way is open?

Rev. Lawrence Everett Addresses Meeting Of St. Ursula Parents

The Rev. Lawrence P. Everett, C.Ss.R., a member of the Mariological Society of America, delivered an address entitled, Mary, God's Masterpiece, before the Parents Association of the Academy of St. Ursula, held Wednesday, Feb. 17.

The speaker praised the pageant presented Monday evening by St. Ursula students depicting scenes in the life of the Virgin Mary. He stated, "God found no difficulty in describing for us in the Book of Genesis how He made the sun and the moon and the stars out of nothing. But when He told us for the first time about Mary, He could speak only of her as 'the woman.'"

The speaker stated that God issued a warning to Satan saying, "I will place enmity between thee and the woman . . . and she shall crush your head." Thousands of years later Isaiah, the Prophet, foretold "A Virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and His name shall be called Emmanuel," and that Mary's acceptance of this dignity averted "the greatest tragedy the human race would ever have known."

Father Everett continued, "But yet, what more could God have told us about Mary than that she is His Blessed Mother and with Him, her Son, was responsible for the redemption of the human race."

He urged his listeners during this Marian Year, to "set your hearts and the hearts of your children on fire with love and devotion to 'the Woman' whom God loved more than all the Angels and Saints of Paradise put together. Make your home a center of devotion to Mary and you will never have to sit up nights wondering where your children are or worrying about what they are doing. They will be under the protecting mantle of their Blessed Mother."

At the business meeting, the Parents Association discussed plans regarding the fund campaign for the new Academy building.

American Husbands Should Teach Wives Finance Says Expert

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

If more American husbands would teach their wives the ABCs of finance, there would be fewer divorces, in the opinion of Margaret E. Kennedy, one of the few women in the country in active partnership in a New York stock exchange firm.

"I'm constantly amazed," says this pink-cheeked petticoat tycoon, "at the number of otherwise intelligent, capable women who haven't the faintest idea where the family money comes from, how much there is of it, or what they would do if their husbands suddenly dropped dead."

Mrs. Kennedy, a young and feminine looking widow and mother of two children, has established many financial "firsts" for women. She was the first woman account executive of the investment counsel firm of Van Strum and Towne, first woman to be appointed vice president of a large mutual fund sponsor and several years ago became the first woman wholesaler of mutual funds in the country when she formed her own firm, Margaret Kennedy Co. Last year she was admitted as an active general partner in the stock exchange firm of Seligman, Lubetkin and Co.

Women Don't Share in Planning

A specialist in finance management, Mrs. Kennedy makes frequent lecture tours around the country explaining her Woman's Dollar" program. She explains:

"This all came about when I realized the awful paradox that, although women spend most of the family money, they often know little about the family's future planning, and aren't hep to the best ways of investing for the future."

As an illustration of her point, Mrs. Kennedy tells of the wife of a wealthy and successful business man who runs a perfectly appointed home, shops wisely for herself and her children, is poised, charming and informed on all current world events, who recently said:

"Tell me, Margaret, how much is $1,000? I honestly wouldn't know. I know how much $100 is, because if my husband gave me that much to go shopping, I'd know what it would buy. But I don't think I've ever seen $1,000 in cash.

"I order what we need to run the house and keep myself and the children well-dressed, and my husband pays the bills. If somebody handed me $1,000 in cash I wouldn't know what to do with it."

Husbands Too Protective

Mrs. Kennedy has strong opinions on such situations. She says:

"There are too many men who say to their wives—'go ahead and buy what you want; I'll pay for it.' Often the wives have no idea how much the family can afford to spend, whether their husbands have unlimited funds or whether they are on the edge of bankruptcy.

"There was, for instance, the case of the wife of a client of our firm who called frantically on Christmas Eve to say that her husband had just had a heart attack and was in the hospital. Although there was a $5,000 diamond bracelet under the Christmas tree for her from her husband, she didn't know whether the family had money enough for the hospital bill. When her husband's firm reassured her she still was worried.

"But as soon as the husband recovered, do you think he explained anything to her about their finances? No indeed. He just said — 'now don't you worry, honey, I'll take care of everything.'

"That's the trouble with American husbands. By being too protective, they are making financial morons out of their wives. Under such circumstances, who can blame the wife who spends money faster than her husband can make it? She just doesn't know any better."

DEPENDS ON WORDING

A letter from a young girl tells me: "I have asked my boy friend, who lives in another state, here for a visit. Our house is rather small and we have no spare room in which he can stay, and, therefore, he will have to stay at the hotel. I would like to know if it is my family's responsibility to pay his hotel bill, or does he pay this himself? If it is my parents' obligation, how do they go about this without embarrassing him?"

If you have invited him in your parents' name to come and stay at the hotel in your town, they certainly would notify the hotel to tell him that he is their guest, and his bill will be sent to them. But if you wrote and said that you wished he would come to see you sometime, and that there was an excellent hotel in town where he could stay, then that would be his responsibility.

Repaying Hospitality

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please advise me, if a friend sends flowers to her hostess after being entertained at luncheon, does that mean the obligation is considered returned and no invitation is necessary for luncheon or otherwise?

Answer: It is accepted as a return, yes; and it usually means the guest is unable to make other return. But it can be an impulse of friendliness or of appreciation by one who likes to send flowers; and who perhaps (or perhaps not) also may return the hospitality.

Elementary Table Manners

Dear Mrs. Post: To settle a friendly argument, will you please tell us if it is permissible, according to table manners etiquette, for a man to tuck his napkin in the collar of his shirt. A friend of mine claims that he is sure he read your approval of this in one of your newspaper columns. Will you please settle this?

Answer: Whatever column it was, I am sure it was not mine. Tucking the napkin in at the chin is on the same par as a baby's bib and certainly is not correct for grown people who are supposed to know how to eat.

Robert Thornell And Family Appear On Television Show

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thornell and three children, Russell, Carline and Betty, appeared on CBS-TV Monday afternoon on the program, Journey Through Life.

Mr. Thornell, English, speech and dramatics instructor at Onteora Central School, told the story of his struggle to obtain his college education. He related that he took various jobs following the war, as airline clerk, truck driver, while studying at New York University. He commuted daily from his home in Peekskill to New York, beginning his day at 6 a. m. and ending at midnight after preparing lessons for the next day's classes, or sometimes staying up all night readying for a test.

Obtaining his degree, Mr. Thornell was appointed as instructor at the Onteora School two years ago, his first teaching position. The Thornells received many gifts at the close of the program.

He learned that he was to make this appearance through a phone call from CBS-TV Friday night. Someone in Peekskill who knew his struggle to become a teacher, wrote to the program. The story of his difficulties in obtaining his education against odds was chosen as one of those to be presented yesterday, much to the complete surprise of the Thornell family.

Miss Snellman Speaks To Home Bureau Units

Miss Adaline Snellman, extension specialist in clothing from the New York State College of Home Economics, was speaker recently at a countywide meeting sponsored by the Ulster County Home Bureau. Over 90 people attended.

Miss Snellman spoke on Selecting Becoming Clothing. Mrs. Fred Fahnrick of Kingston and Mrs. Vernon Goetchius of Hurley acted as models and wore several attractive outfits which they made themselves. Several types of accessories were modelled with each outfit to show various points, Miss Snellman pointed out the important part lines play in dress construction and the way one looks in their clothes. She said that when the lines of clothes mingle with the lines of the body and face optical illusions occur. This can be flattering or otherwise. She stressed the importance of making sure that the lines one uses fool the eyes and show the figure at its best.

Thirty-two Ulster County Home Bureau unit leaders attended a training school on selecting becoming clothing held February 16 at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church Hall.

Miss Snellman showed the leaders how to use the slides and script prepared by the college for unit lessons and gave them background information that would be helpful.

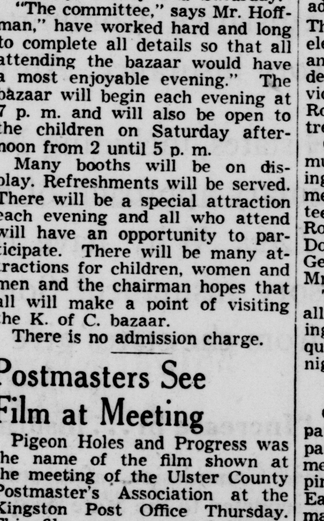

Units in the county are scheduling these lessons in the near future. Anyone interested in attending a meeting and learning what lines and designs are becoming to her, whether she makes or buys her clothes, should contact their local Home Bureau chairman for information regarding the date of the meeting.

Rev. Lawrence Everett Addresses Meeting Of St. Ursula Parents

The Rev. Lawrence P. Everett, C.Ss.R., a member of the Mariological Society of America, delivered an address entitled, Mary, God's Masterpiece, before the Parents Association of the Academy of St. Ursula, held Wednesday, Feb. 17.

The speaker praised the pageant presented Monday evening by St. Ursula students depicting scenes in the life of the Virgin Mary. He stated, "God found no difficulty in describing for us in the Book of Genesis how He made the sun and the moon and the stars out of nothing. But when He told us for the first time about Mary, He could speak only of her as 'the woman.'"

The speaker stated that God issued a warning to Satan saying, "I will place enmity between thee and the woman . . . and she shall crush your head." Thousands of years later Isaiah, the Prophet, foretold "A Virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and His name shall be called Emmanuel," and that Mary's acceptance of this dignity averted "the greatest tragedy the human race would ever have known."

Father Everett continued, "But yet, what more could God have told us about Mary than that she is His Blessed Mother and with Him, her Son, was responsible for the redemption of the human race."

He urged his listeners during this Marian Year, to "set your hearts and the hearts of your children on fire with love and devotion to 'the Woman' whom God loved more than all the Angels and Saints of Paradise put together. Make your home a center of devotion to Mary and you will never have to sit up nights wondering where your children are or worrying about what they are doing. They will be under the protecting mantle of their Blessed Mother."

At the business meeting, the Parents Association discussed plans regarding the fund campaign for the new Academy building.

The following co-officers were elected for the coming year: Mr. and Mrs. Merril Yeaple, president; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Short, vice-presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sabin, secretary and treasurer.

Chris, Jean and Ray provided music for round and square dancing after the meeting. Refreshments were served by a committee including: Mr. and Mrs. G. Robert Anderson; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Riehl; Mr. and Mrs. George Sheldon; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murray.

The president announced that all couples attending the meeting Thursday at 8 p. m., are requested to bring old hats. Game night is planned.

Robert Thornell And Family Appear On Television Show

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thornell and three children, Russell, Carline and Betty, appeared on CBS-TV Monday afternoon on the program, Journey Through Life.

Mr. Thornell, English, speech and dramatics instructor at Onteora Central School, told the story of his struggle to obtain his college education. He related that he took various jobs following the war, as airline clerk, truck driver, while studying at New York University. He commuted daily from his home in Peekskill to New York, beginning his day at 6 a. m. and ending at midnight after preparing lessons for the next day's classes, or sometimes staying up all night readying for a test.

Obtaining his degree, Mr. Thornell was appointed as instructor at the Onteora School two years ago, his first teaching position. The Thornells received many gifts at the close of the program.

He learned that he was to make this appearance through a phone call from CBS-TV Friday night. Someone in Peekskill who knew his struggle to become a teacher, wrote to the program. The story of his difficulties in obtaining his education against odds was chosen as one of those to be presented yesterday, much to the complete surprise of the Thornell family.

Home Bureau

Miss Snellman Speaks To Home Bureau Units

Miss Adaline Snellman, extension specialist in clothing from the New York State College of Home Economics, was speaker recently at a countywide meeting sponsored by the Ulster County Home Bureau. Over 90 people attended.

Miss Snellman spoke on Selecting Becoming Clothing. Mrs. Fred Fahnrick of Kingston and Mrs. Vernon Goetchius of Hurley acted as models and wore several attractive outfits which they made themselves. Several types of accessories were modelled with each outfit to show various points, Miss Snellman pointed out the important part lines play in dress construction and the way one looks in their clothes. She said that when the lines of clothes mingle with the lines of the body and face optical illusions occur. This can be flattering or otherwise. She stressed the importance of making sure that the lines one uses fool the eyes and show the figure at its best.

Thirty-two Ulster County Home Bureau unit leaders attended a training school on selecting becoming clothing held February 16 at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church Hall.

Miss Snellman showed the leaders how to use the slides and script prepared by the college for unit lessons and gave them background information that would be helpful.

Units in the county are scheduling these lessons in the near future. Anyone interested in attending a meeting and learning what lines and designs are becoming to her, whether she makes or buys her clothes, should contact their local Home Bureau chairman for information regarding the date of the meeting.

Bell Net Income Was Half-Billion

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Bell Telephone system, world's largest corporate enterprise, had net income of nearly one-half billion dollars in 1953 and its assets rose to nearly 12 billions.

Total operating revenues of Bell, consisting of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and its principal telephone subsidiaries, amounted to $4,416,729,614, compared with $4,039,664,218 in 1952.

Of the $491,693,857 Bell system net income for the year, $478,512,265 or $11.71 a share was applicable to AT&T stock and the remainder of minority holdings in subsidiaries not 100 per cent owned by AT&T.

This compared with $418,461,896 net income for the Bell system in 1952, of which $406,661,306 or $11.45 a share was applicable to a lesser number of AT&T shares. AT&T had 42,282,000 shares outstanding at the end of 1953 compared with 38,979,000 a year earlier.

Bell system assets rose to $11,972,707,089 at the end of the year against $10,734,348,960 at the end of 1952.

Parent Units Income

The parent AT & T alone, according to the annual report to stockholders by Cleo F. Craig, president, had 1953 net income of $421,485,570 or $10.32 a share against $358,493,204 or $10.09 a share on the lesser number of shares in 1952. Earnings of Bell subsidiaries are reflected in AT & T net income only to the extent they are received as dividends.

The Bell and AT & T earnings represented new records as they have every year during the huge postwar expansion in service.

The Bell system, which operates four-fifths the nation's telephones, added 1,900,000 telephones in 1953 for a postwar gain of more than 19,000,000 to bring the Bell total in service to 41,350,000.

It spent $1,400,000,000 in 1953 to expand and improve facilities, bringing the postwar total to $9,000,000,000.

New demand for telephones tapered off in the latter months of 1953 and the volume of long distance calling did not show its usual rate of increase.

Five Commissions Free to Continue Various Studies

Albany, Feb. 23 (AP)—Five state commissions today were free to continue studies ranging from farm-to-market roads to flood control.

Gov. Dewey signed bills today that extend for a year the reporting dates of groups studying flood control, coordination of state activities and revision of the civil service law.

Yesterday he approved extension bills for commissions on agriculture and school buildings.

In other developments at the capitol:

1. A group of 275 placard-waving teachers from New York city badgered legislators with their pay boost demands after failing to see the governor.

2. Dewey and legislative leaders agreed upon Sept. 14 as the date for the primary election, and upon Sept. 21-23 for the party nominating conventions.

Bigger Share Suggested

The chairman of the Agriculture Commission, Sen. Austin W. Erwin, said the group was considering asking that the state pay a bigger share of an experimental town road program.

The state pays 25 to 75 per cent of the cost—depending on a town's needs—of rural road projects costing the state not more than $7,000. Raising the limit by several thousand dollars has been proposed, the Geneseo Republican said.

Extension of the life of the School Building Commission would be for only six weeks — time to prepare its final report. A new commission to study educational financing exclusively is proposed in an administration bill now before the Legislature. This is expected to take over the chores of the old group, headed by former Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore.

To Take Another Year

The sweeping revision of the civil service law is expected to take another full year. The group last month recommended creation of regional civil service boards as a preliminary step.

The New York city teachers waited a half hour at the driveway of the executive mansion but Dewey did not appear. They urged adoption of the Archibald-Roman bill, which would provide a $1,500 boost July 1 and establish a scale of $4,500 to $8,500 annually.

Sen. William F. Condon, sponsor of a measure that would require questionnaires and fingerprints from officers and employes of harness race track, submitted an amendment that would cover stockholders.

The Yonkers Republican's bill, already tagged by a Dewey administration spokesman as "poorly drafted," stands no chance of passage. The administration plans its own measure based upon recommendations of the Moreland Act Commission now probing sulky track scandals.

Dewey also signed measures creating two housing authorities in Westchester county. Condon sponsored a bill for an authority at Greenburgh. A Mount Kisco authority was proposed by Assemblyman Theodore Hill, Jr., Jefferson Valley Republican.

Twins From One Egg

West Haddon, England, Feb. 23 (AP)—Separate twin chicks—the first on record in Britain—emerged from a single egg at the Michael Wicksteed hatchery yesterday. Wicksteed spotted the twin embryos while candling the eggs in one of his incubators last week and was ready for the big event with half a dozen friends as witnesses. The first chick to peck its way out came from the big end of the shell. The second followed two hours later. The British Chick Producers Associations said Siamese twin chicks—joined together—have been reported in Britain before, but never a set of separate twins. The chicks, from a White Leghorn-Rhode Island Red mating, have been named Maude and Claude.

Housing Units Are Offered for Sale

The veterans temporary housing units on Charlotte street, which were declared sub-standard and ordered closed last summer, are being offered for sale by the Colonial Construction Company through Lawrence J. MacAvery, local real estate broker of 241 Wall street.

Located on the former Loughran Park site, which is owned by the Kingston Board of Education, the units were brought to Kingston shortly after the close of World War 2 to serve as temporary housing. At that time the housing facilities were to be used for five years but an extension was granted and the units were not closed until last summer. Since then they have been vacant.

Many of the former residents in the emergency housing units moved to the Colonial Gardens Housing on Flatbush avenue when the Housing Development opened.

Mr. MacAvery stated all of the 12 units were being offered for sale. There is a total of 50 apartments of three and four rooms in the project. The units must be removed from the premises by the purchaser.

These units are suitable for camps or motel use, MacAvery pointed out, and lavatory, showers and heating units are also available and will be sold separately from the housing units. The housing will be sold in whole or in part, MacAvery stated.

Man Is Adrift 46 Days, Comes Ashore at Cairns

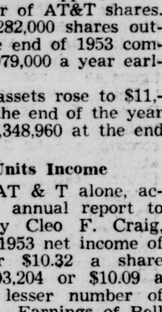

Brisbane, Australia, Feb. 23 (AP)—Viktors Vzejnieks, 28, staggered ashore north of Cairns yesterday, suffering from malnutrition and exposure, after drifting 450 miles through the Coral Sea in an open 12-foot dinghy without a paddle. He had been at sea 46 days.

Latvian-born, Vzejnieks put out in the dinghy Jan. 6 from Thursday Island, just off the tip of Cape York Peninsula, the northernmost part of Australia. Some days out, he lost his paddles in a storm.

Vzenieks was still too weak to day to tell his full story, but said he trapped rain water in a cup and plate and lived largely on seaweed and a small shark he caught.

The veterans temporary housing units on Charlotte street, which were declared sub-standard and ordered closed last summer, are being offered for sale by the Colonial Construction Company through Lawrence J. MacAvery, local real estate broker of 241 Wall street.

Located on the former Loughran Park site, which is owned by the Kingston Board of Education, the units were brought to Kingston shortly after the close of World War 2 to serve as temporary housing. At that time the housing facilities were to be used for five years but an extension was granted and the units were not closed until last summer. Since then they have been vacant.

Many of the former residents in the emergency housing units moved to the Colonial Gardens Housing on Flatbush avenue when the Housing Development opened.

Mr. MacAvery stated all of the 12 units were being offered for sale. There is a total of 50 apartments of three and four rooms in the project. The units must be removed from the premises by the purchaser.

These units are suitable for camps or motel use, MacAvery pointed out, and lavatory, showers and heating units are also available and will be sold separately from the housing units. The housing will be sold in whole or in part, MacAvery stated.

Man Is Adrift 46 Days, Comes Ashore at Cairns

Brisbane, Australia, Feb. 23 (AP)—Viktors Vzejnieks, 28, staggered ashore north of Cairns yesterday, suffering from malnutrition and exposure, after drifting 450 miles through the Coral Sea in an open 12-foot dinghy without a paddle. He had been at sea 46 days.

Latvian-born, Vzejnieks put out in the dinghy Jan. 6 from Thursday Island, just off the tip of Cape York Peninsula, the northernmost part of Australia. Some days out, he lost his paddles in a storm.

Vzenieks was still too weak today to tell his full story, but said he trapped rain water in a cup and plate and lived largely on seaweed and a small shark he caught.

Lions and Kiwanis to Battle on Court for Palsy, Polio Funds

Clubs Set for First Game Which Also May Be Last At Field House Thursday

A closely contested battle is predicted when Lions Club and Kiwanis Club basketball teams meet Thursday night at the Kate Walton Field House for the benefit of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Clinic and the March of Dimes.

Neither team has been defeated, tied, or even scored upon this season. In fact, neither team has played this season.

With no limit to the team's rosters, and unlimited substitutions, the Kiwanis Club has been given a slight edge because of its larger membership. The Lions Club, however, as challengers, make up in enthusiasm what they lack in numbers. They also possess Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, Kingston recreation superintendent and a former All-DUSO player, from whom they are expecting much.

Lineups Mystery

Jack Gilligan, KHS junior varsity basketball coach, manager of the Lions basketeers, and Charlie Fabiano, Kiwanis manager, are both keeping an air of mystery around their starting lineups.

Gilligan will be able to draw from such men as Harold Baltz, Musician Mike Marchuk, Attorney Hubert Richter, Wilson Tinney, Morgan Ryan, and, of course, Andy Murphy.

It was also learned that the Lions manager has been attempting to persuade Richard Kalish, the laundryman, to turn out and clean up the opponents. Louis G. Bruhn, former Ulster county DA, is also sought by Gilligen, if it becomes necessary to plead the Lions' case before the referee.

Oscar Newkirk, former mayor and a former basketeer of note, might make an appearance in the Lions lineup.

Fabiano Maps Plan

It is widely rumored that Fabiano, who when not managing the basketball team spends his time as manager of the Union-Fern furniture store, is depending upon the strategy of obtaining early possession of the ball. Once he has it, of course, he will not surrender it until the opponents have signed a contract for time payments.

Unconfirmed reports indicate that both teams are concerned over the fact that the majority of their players are more familiar with swivel chairs than with pivot-plays of the type used on the basketball court.

Rumor has it that the Kiwanis team has negotiated for at least one stretcher to keep on hand, while the Lions Club reportedly has plans to smuggle a bicycle on to the court.

It was also learned today that Mrs. Charlotte Peck's offer of a wheel chair from the Cerebral Palsy Clinic will be taken up by the Kiwanis contingent.

Real Prelim Set

The game will begin at 8:15 p. m. Thursday, Feb. 25.

But if you want to see some real basketball, come early. There will be a preliminary between the Recreation All-Stars and YMCA All-Stars, consisting of boys between the ages of about 8 and 14.

Rena Shunk and Hattie Wigley of Akron, O., have been bowling on the same team in the same league in the same bowling establishment for 20 years.

Landy, Australia's Ace Miler Clocks 4:02.6 on Heavy Track

Melbourne, Feb. 23 (AP)—John Landy, Australia's ace miler, turned in a 4:02.6 clocking tonight at Olympic Park bucking a strong headwind on a track made heavy by a drizzling rain.

Landy's time, just 1.2 seconds off the world standard of 4:01.4 set by Sweden's Gunder Haegg in 1945, was an exceptional achievement in the light of the running conditions the young Aussie faced.

Nevertheless the fabled 4-minute mile, which Landy pursues in select company including Americans Wes Santee and Mal Whitfield, England's Roger Bannister and Luxembourg's Josy Barthel, eluded him in his last big mile race of the season.

Third Fastest Time

Landy's time was his third fastest in his efforts to crack the world mark. He holds the third fastest mile ever run—a 4:02 mark—which he achieved Dec. 12, 1953. He also covered the distance in 4:02.1 a year earlier at Sydney.

Landy's best times were in his first and last quarters. He was clocked at :57.5 on the first quarter and sprinted home in 1:00.6. He hit 1:01.5 on the second and 1:02 on the third quarters.

After the Aussie had hit the tape 70 yards ahead of the field Finland's Denis Johansson, who finished fourth, told the Associated Press "Landy is the greatest mile runner ever."

Tickets for the game tonight between Kingston and Newburgh have been completely sold out, Coach G. Warren Kias said this morning.

He said none would be available at the door and that he was making the announcement to save Kingston basketball fans the disappointment of making the trip to Newburgh and not being able to get in.

Maroon Five In Newburgh For Contest

Unless old man upset (and he's been known to do it) rears his ugly head, the present picture in the 1953-54 DUSO Basketball League pennant race appears headed for a two-way tie at the wire between Kingston High School and Poughkeepsie.

That's the picture today as Kingston readies itself for an important game in Newburgh tonight against the Goldbacks. To keep its hopes up for either an outright championship or at least a tie, Kingston needs this one.

The same outlook surrounds Poughkeepsie, currently tied with Kingston for the league lead with a record of 13 wins and one setback.

Po'keepsie at Home

Poughkeepsie takes on Port Jervis tonight in the celebrated bandbox and if the Maroons couldn't handle Poughkeepsie in the small confines of that court, then there is little hope that the Tri-Staters can do any better in tonight's fray.

After tonight's slate, in which both the Maroons and Blues are favorites, Kingston plays a non-conference game here with Catskill Friday night while Poughkeepsie travels to Newburgh for another "crooshal" contest. Kingston winds up its regular season DUSO schedule March 2 at Monticello.

Newburgh, of course, could throw the monkey wrench into the current set-up of the championship struggle. Both Kingston and Poughkeepsie must face the Hilly City cagers in these closing weeks of the campaign and nothing would please Coach George "Lanky" Masterson of NFA any more than to act the role as "spoiler."

The University of Oregon has restored wrestling to its intercollegiate athletic program.

LaSalle-Germaine In Semi-Final on Saturday's Card

Pierre LaSalle of Montreal has ben paired with "Legs" Germaine of Boston for the two out of three fall semi-final of Saturday night's wrestling show at municipal auditorium.

LaSalle, a 225-pounder, is one of wrestling's rough and ready matmen. He knows plenty about straight wrestling but is a firm believer that a little rough stuff adds spice to the show.

He tried some of it against Ray Gunkel on Saturday night's TV show from Chicago and it backfired, causing him to lose in straight falls to the Jack Dempsey protege. However, LaSalle did have the satisfaction of making Gunkel work hard for his victory.

Germaine can play it either way, depending upon his opponent. A good arm and leg artist he also drop kicks and throws flying blocks.

Reynolds Checks in With Yanks

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The World Champion New York Yankees had about everything but a brass band out to meet their Big Chief, Allie Reynolds, today when the aging hurler checked into their St. Petersburg, Fla., camp.

A holdout until last night, Reynolds came to terms with General Manager George Weiss in a telephone conversation from his Oklahoma City home. He assured Weiss he would get the first plane for the southland.

Reynolds signing is a significant one for the Yanks, who still have a dozen discontended athletes to round up including such first-line pitchers as Vic Raschi and Whitey Ford. The Yank brass regarded Reynolds as the key man in the holdout seige. They figured that when they signed him, the rest would fall in line soon. They probably will.

Whether Reynolds got his $2,500 raise, neither he nor Weiss would say. But it was George who made the phone call and Allie certainly doesn't need the money he makes out of baseball to keep himself. So it's fairly certain that he got the $40,000 he was asking.

"I'm very well satisfied," he said.

All was not happiness, though. The St. Louis Cardinals suffered a crushing blow when Alex Grammas, their $100,000 rookie shortstop suffered a torn shoulder muscle on his throwing arm.

Card officials said the injury happened Friday. Grammas was taken to a hospital and Dr. I. C. Middleman, the team surgeon, said he would be out for an indefinite period.

All told, seven clubs now are holding organized workouts, although officially the training season doesn't start until March 1. Besides the Yanks, Baltimore, the Milwaukee Braves, Philadelphia Phillies, New York Giants, Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers are limbering up.

Scout in Hospital

St. Petersburg, Feb. 23 (AP)—Paul Krichell, chief scout for the New York Yankees, today was admitted to St. Anthony's Hospital for a checkup. He complained of dizzy spells over the weekend.

Krichell, 71, has been here for the past two weeks, aiding Manager Casey Stengel in the conduct of the champions' prospects school.

He recently was honored by the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America, receiving the Bill Slocum Memorial Award for outstanding contribution to baseball over a long period of time. He has been with the Yankees for 34 years.

Westrum Demoted

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 23 (AP)—Wes Westrum has been demoted to second-string catcher by Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants and he's obviously annoyed by it all.

"So I'm not on the first team any more, eh?" he said with a scowl when he went up to the plate for his first batting drill yesterday.

He then proceeded to clout a couple of balls over the fence. Durocher's statement that Ray Katt is the No. 1 receiver very well may have been meant to steam up the quiet Westrum.

Good Pitching

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers' brass, here to look over the team in its early-season workouts, is impressed—so impressed that Vice-President Fresco Thompson said today he thinks the Brooks have the best pitching in the National League.

"Last year I thought Milwaukee had the best pitching, but this year I think we have," he said. "In fact, we have so much good pitching that I wouldn't want to have Manager Walt Alston's headache of trying to sort it out."

Carey Agrees to Sign With Yankee Club

St. Petersburg, Feb. 23 (AP)—The long list of New York Yankee holdouts was reduced by one today when Andy Carey, a reserve infielder, agreed to terms by phone after a conversation with Roy Hamey, assistant general manager. Carey, who hit .321 as a part-time player last year, has been sought in deals by other clubs, including the Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles. His salary is estimated at $10,000.

Rolloff Set Saturday in Doubles Tie

Arrangements have been completed for the rolloff of the tie score in the doubles competition of the 17th annual Kingston Bowling Association which ended February 14 at Ferraro's Bowlodrome.

Irwin J. Thomas, KBA secretary, announced today that the rolloff will be held Saturday, Feb. 27, at 1 p. m., at the Bowlodrome.

The rolloff will feature Buster Ferraro and Mickey Kahars against Bruce Davis and Cliff Davis. Both tandems fired gross scores of 1340 to tie for first place.

NBA Needs Calculators For Scores

(By The Associated Press)

At the rate they're going, the National Basketball Association clubs might be wise to buy some adding machines and perhaps hire an accoutant to keep track of their scores.

Ordinary mortals have a tough time of it. Last night, for example, the Boston Celtics defeated the Baltimore Bullets 111-110 after three overtime periods. Bob Cousy hit the cords for 42 points in the process of leading the Celtics from a 14-point deficit.

The victory moved the Celtics within a game and a half of the Syracuse National in their battle for second place in the Eastern division.

In the two other games, Neil Johnston tossed in 36 points as the Philadelphia Warriors upset the Minneapolis Lakers—the Western division leaders—79-72, and Fort Wayne decisioned Milwaukee 95-82.

Meanwhile, in games through Sunday, Johnston enjoyed a 238 point lead in his drive to win the scoring championship for the second straight year.

Johnston, who scored 1,564 points last year, has collected 453 field goals and 472 free throws for a total of 1,378 for a percentage of 23.8. Ed Maculey of the Celtics is in second spot with 1,140.

Cousy is third with 1,111. George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers fourth followed by Baltimore's Ray Felix.

Macauley still is the league's top field shooter having connected with 393 out of 814 for a 48.3 percentage.

Bill Sharman of the Celtics is the free throw leader with an 84.4 mark. Harry Gallatin of the New York Knickerbockers is the rebound leader with 937 while Cousy leads in the assist department with 424.

Gavilan to Meet Cunningham in Miami 10 Rounds

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan meets Johnny Cunningham of Baltimore tonight in the first of two tuneup fights before he goes after Bobo Olson's middleweight crown April 2 in Chicago.

The 10-round non-title fight at the Miami Beach Auditorium will not be telecast or broadcast. A capacity crowd of 3,600 is expected to pay a gross gate of $14,000. The bout is scheduled for 10 p. m. (EST).

Gavilan is a prohibitive favorite. Cunningham has won only nine of 37 fights. In his last fight Nov. 28, Carmen Basilio stopped him in four rounds.

Team 1 Cops Hercules Tourney; Bechtold Hits 300 in Practice Game

Kentucky Loses 3 Cage Stars, Last of '51 Champs

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The basketball sun won't shine bright on the home of Kentucky basketball today, for the three big stars have played their last game there.

All America Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos, the last remaining members of Kentucky's 1951 national champions, bowed out on the Lexington, Ky., court in fine style last night as they led Kentucky to a 100-64 rout of Vanderbilt. With Hagan getting 22 points, Tsioropoulos 20 and Ramsey 19, the big three came close to tying Vandy all by themselves.

The big three, barred from play last year by the NCAA, have two more regular season games away from home, then in all probability will wind up their college careers in a playoff with Louisiana State for the south-eastern conference championships. Even if Kentucky wins that one, the three can't play in the NCAA tourney because they're now postgraduates.

Pettit Through

LSU kept pace with Kentucky in the SEC race by whipping Alabama 79-65 as 6-9 Bob Pettit, the best basketball player in the bayous for years, closed his home career with a 35-point scoring outburst.

Even though the big three have played their last game at home, the picture is brighter today for Kentucky, ranked second in the country behind Duquesne, than for third-ranked Indiana. The proud Hoosiers, expecting to clinch a tie for the big 10 conference before the home folks, were rudely jolted by Iowa's brash sophomores 82-64.

The upset, coupled with Illinois' 66-64 thriller over Wisconsin on two free throws by Jim Wright with a minute to play, left Indiana in front with a 10-2 record. But Iowa is 9-3 and Illinois 8-3.

First Dutch Wins, Also Redeemers in Protestant League

In the first game of the Protestant Junior Church League Saturday afternoon in the YMCA First Dutch defeated their arch rival Trinity Lutheran 54 to 34. First Dutch led at the quarter 12 to 4, 21 to 18 at the half, and 35 to 22 at the end of the third quarter. Charlie Bell was high with 14 and Dirk Oudemool followed with 13. For Trinity Lutheran Don Krueger was high with 16.

In the second game Redeemer Lutheran led by Big Phil Hendricks defeated Immanuel 75 to 58. Redeemer led at the quarter 17 to 15, at the half 44 to 31, and at the third quarter 62 to 48. Bib Hendricks scored 36 points for the winning Redeemer team followed by Joe Kelly with 15 and Tom Rowland with 12. For Immanuel John Schryver was high with 23 followed by Carl Beatty with 11.

Dairymen's 1238 Fourth in U. S.

The all-time Hudson Valley Bowling League high team single score of 1238 shot by Jones Dairy in their sweep over the Newburgh Toohey's Saturday night at the Bowlodrome, is the fourth highest in the nation, according to the January listing in the Bowling Magazine put out by the American Bowling Congress.

Jones Dairy eclipsed the former high of 1214 held by Cy's Diner of Newburgh since 1948 and surpassed the seasonal high of 1180 held by the Veteran Cabs of Poughkeepsie.

Heading the high team totals in the country is the Pfeiffer Beer squad of Detroit, Mich., with 1275.

No. 2 team is the King Louie Shirts of Plains, Pa., with 1268 and in third place are the Silver Seals of St. Louis, Mo., with 1257.

Trailing behind the Dairymen's 1238 are the Garden Spot, Hackensack, N. J., with 1226 and the Krueger Beer team of Newark, N. J., with 1223.

VanDusen Cracks 607

Vern Van Dusen sandwiched a 229 game around sticks of 192 and 186 to lead the Central Rec Mixed League with 607 Sunday night.

Also in the 500 bracket were Warner Miller with 537; Bonnie Reilly 200-528; Tracy Jordan 534; John North 518 and John Lowe 533.

Maurer Tops Winners With 591 Triple

There may have been more auspicious scores in the course of the previous 34 Hercules Telegraphic Bowling Tournaments, but this year's 35th annual competition really got off to a sizzling start even before the first ball was thrown Saturday afternoon at the Bowlodrome.

The man responsible for this hectic pre-opening was Leo Bechtold, No. 2 man in the lineup of Team 1 which eventually went on to win the tournament with a 2769 series.

Bechtold appeared at the Cornell street tenpin establishment a little early Saturday afternoon and decided to get in some practice.

Strikes Pile Up

By the time Leo reached his middle frames of his warmup game, the railbirds were beginning to take notice of his continuous stream of strikes. They kept on watching and the Hercules trundler kept on pitching strikes.

By the time Leo was ready to take part in the official tournament action he had himself a nifty 300 perfect game to his credit. Not recognized by the ABC, of course, but Bechtold still had himself a dream game of 300.

Bechtold came out of the tournament with a 528 triple on scores of 180-168-180.

Joe Maurer led Team 1 to the title with a 591 three-timer on scores of 200-200-191. Cliff Davis hammered 209-586; Joe Mannello 213-554 and Ken Newell 510.

Team 2, Bowling 2633, was led by Tracy Jordan who fired 208-549; Vince Noble 238-547; Ed Smedes 530 and John North 526.

The score:

Team 1 (2769)
Cliff Davis	208	195	182	586
Leo Bechtold	180	168	180	528
Ken Newell	164	191	155	510

Paddle Results

In the business and professional men's paddleball tournament at the YMCA last night Bing Van Etten and Jake Francis defeated Al Townsend and Jack Purvis by scores of 21 to 14 and 21 to 18. In the only other match Chet Dolson and George Rifenbary defeated Lou Schafer and Edmund Coughlin 16 to 21, 21 to 18, and 21 to 14. Two other matches last night were postponed until a date in the near future.

Lions and Kiwanis to Battle on Court for Palsy, Polio Funds

Clubs Set for First Game Which Also May Be Last At Field House Thursday

A closely contested battle is predicted when Lions Club and Kiwanis Club basketball teams meet Thursday night at the Kate Walton Field House for the benefit of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Clinic and the March of Dimes.

Neither team has been defeated, tied, or even scored upon this season. In fact, neither team has played this season.

With no limit to the team's rosters, and unlimited substitutions, the Kiwanis Club has been given a slight edge because of its larger membership. The Lions Club, however, as challengers, make up in enthusiasm what they lack in numbers. They also possess Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, Kingston recreation superintendent and a former All-DUSO player, from whom they are expecting much.

Lineups Mystery

Jack Gilligan, KHS junior varsity basketball coach, manager of the Lions basketeers, and Charlie Fabiano, Kiwanis manager, are both keeping an air of mystery around their starting lineups.

Gilligan will be able to draw from such men as Harold Baltz, Musician Mike Marchuk, Attorney Hubert Richter, Wilson Tinney, Morgan Ryan, and, of course, Andy Murphy.

It was also learned that the Lions manager has been attempting to persuade Richard Kalish, the laundryman, to turn out and clean up the opponents. Louis G. Bruhn, former Ulster county DA, is also sought by Gilligen, if it becomes necessary to plead the Lions' case before the referee.

Oscar Newkirk, former mayor and a former basketeer of note, might make an appearance in the Lions lineup.

Fabiano Maps Plan

It is widely rumored that Fabiano, who when not managing the basketball team spends his time as manager of the Union-Fern furniture store, is depending upon the strategy of obtaining early possession of the ball. Once he has it, of course, he will not surrender it until the opponents have signed a contract for time payments.

Unconfirmed reports indicate that both teams are concerned over the fact that the majority of their players are more familiar with swivel chairs than with pivot-plays of the type used on the basketball court.

Rumor has it that the Kiwanis team has negotiated for at least one stretcher to keep on hand, while the Lions Club reportedly has plans to smuggle a bicycle on to the court.

It was also learned today that Mrs. Charlotte Peck's offer of a wheel chair from the Cerebral Palsy Clinic will be taken up by the Kiwanis contingent.

Real Prelim Set

The game will begin at 8:15 p. m. Thursday, Feb. 25.

But if you want to see some real basketball, come early. There will be a preliminary between the Recreation All-Stars and YMCA All-Stars, consisting of boys between the ages of about 8 and 14.

Rena Shunk and Hattie Wigley of Akron, O., have been bowling on the same team in the same league in the same bowling establishment for 20 years.

Landy, Australia's Ace Miler Clocks 4:02.6 on Heavy Track

Melbourne, Feb. 23 (AP)—John Landy, Australia's ace miler, turned in a 4:02.6 clocking tonight at Olympic Park bucking a strong headwind on a track made heavy by a drizzling rain.

Landy's time, just 1.2 seconds off the world standard of 4:01.4 set by Sweden's Gunder Haegg in 1945, was an exceptional achievement in the light of the running conditions the young Aussie faced.

Nevertheless the fabled 4-minute mile, which Landy pursues in select company including Americans Wes Santee and Mal Whitfield, England's Roger Bannister and Luxembourg's Josy Barthel, eluded him in his last big mile race of the season.

Third Fastest Time

Landy's time was his third fastest in his efforts to crack the world mark. He holds the third fastest mile ever run—a 4:02 mark—which he achieved Dec. 12, 1953. He also covered the distance in 4:02.1 a year earlier at Sydney.

Landy's best times were in his first and last quarters. He was clocked at :57.5 on the first quarter and sprinted home in 1:00.6. He hit 1:01.5 on the second and 1:02 on the third quarters.

After the Aussie had hit the tape 70 yards ahead of the field Finland's Denis Johansson, who finished fourth, told the Associated Press "Landy is the greatest mile runner ever."

Tickets for the game tonight between Kingston and Newburgh have been completely sold out, Coach G. Warren Kias said this morning.

He said none would be available at the door and that he was making the announcement to save Kingston basketball fans the disappointment of making the trip to Newburgh and not being able to get in.

Maroon Five In Newburgh For Contest

Unless old man upset (and he's been known to do it) rears his ugly head, the present picture in the 1953-54 DUSO Basketball League pennant race appears headed for a two-way tie at the wire between Kingston High School and Poughkeepsie.

That's the picture today as Kingston readies itself for an important game in Newburgh tonight against the Goldbacks. To keep its hopes up for either an outright championship or at least a tie, Kingston needs this one.

The same outlook surrounds Poughkeepsie, currently tied with Kingston for the league lead with a record of 13 wins and one setback.

Po'keepsie at Home

Poughkeepsie takes on Port Jervis tonight in the celebrated bandbox and if the Maroons couldn't handle Poughkeepsie in the small confines of that court, then there is little hope that the Tri-Staters can do any better in tonight's fray.

After tonight's slate, in which both the Maroons and Blues are favorites, Kingston plays a non-conference game here with Catskill Friday night while Poughkeepsie travels to Newburgh for another "crooshal" contest. Kingston winds up its regular season DUSO schedule March 2 at Monticello.

Newburgh, of course, could throw the monkey wrench into the current set-up of the championship struggle. Both Kingston and Poughkeepsie must face the Hilly City cagers in these closing weeks of the campaign and nothing would please Coach George "Lanky" Masterson of NFA any more than to act the role as "spoiler."

The University of Oregon has restored wrestling to its intercollegiate athletic program.

LaSalle-Germaine In Semi-Final on Saturday's Card

Pierre LaSalle of Montreal has been paired with "Legs" Germaine of Boston for the two out of three fall semi-final of Saturday night's wrestling show at municipal auditorium.

LaSalle, a 225-pounder, is one of wrestling's rough and ready matmen. He knows plenty about straight wrestling but is a firm believer that a little rough stuff adds spice to the show.

He tried some of it against Ray Gunkel on Saturday night's TV show from Chicago and it backfired, causing him to lose in straight falls to the Jack Dempsey protege. However, LaSalle did have the satisfaction of making Gunkel work hard for his victory.

Germaine can play it either way, depending upon his opponent. A good arm and leg artist he also drop kicks and throws flying blocks.

Reynolds Checks in With Yanks

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The World Champion New York Yankees had about everything but a brass band out to meet their Big Chief, Allie Reynolds, today when the aging hurler checked into their St. Petersburg, Fla., camp.

A holdout until last night, Reynolds came to terms with General Manager George Weiss in a telephone conversation from his Oklahoma City home. He assured Weiss he would get the first plane for the southland.

Reynolds signing is a significant one for the Yanks, who still have a dozen discontended athletes to round up including such first-line pitchers as Vic Raschi and Whitey Ford. The Yank brass regarded Reynolds as the key man in the holdout seige. They figured that when they signed him, the rest would fall in line soon. They probably will.

Whether Reynolds got his $2,500 raise, neither he nor Weiss would say. But it was George who made the phone call and Allie certainly doesn't need the money he makes out of baseball to keep himself. So it's fairly certain that he got the $40,000 he was asking.

"I'm very well satisfied," he said.

All was not happiness, though. The St. Louis Cardinals suffered a crushing blow when Alex Grammas, their $100,000 rookie shortstop suffered a torn shoulder muscle on his throwing arm.

Card officials said the injury happened Friday. Grammas was taken to a hospital and Dr. I. C. Middleman, the team surgeon, said he would be out for an indefinite period.

All told, seven clubs now are holding organized workouts, although officially the training season doesn't start until March 1. Besides the Yanks, Baltimore, the Milwaukee Braves, Philadelphia Phillies, New York Giants, Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers are limbering up.

Scout in Hospital

St. Petersburg, Feb. 23 (AP)—Paul Krichell, chief scout for the New York Yankees, today was admitted to St. Anthony's Hospital for a checkup. He complained of dizzy spells over the weekend.

Krichell, 71, has been here for the past two weeks, aiding Manager Casey Stengel in the conduct of the champions' prospects school.

He recently was honored by the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America, receiving the Bill Slocum Memorial Award for outstanding contribution to baseball over a long period of time. He has been with the Yankees for 34 years.

Westrum Demoted

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 23 (AP)—Wes Westrum has been demoted to second-string catcher by Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants and he's obviously annoyed by it all.

"So I'm not on the first team any more, eh?" he said with a scowl when he went up to the plate for his first batting drill yesterday.

He then proceeded to clout a couple of balls over the fence. Durocher's statement that Ray Katt is the No. 1 receiver very well may have been meant to steam up the quiet Westrum.

Good Pitching

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers' brass, here to look over the team in its early-season workouts, is impressed—so impressed that Vice-President Fresco Thompson said today he thinks the Brooks have the best pitching in the National League.

"Last year I thought Milwaukee had the best pitching, but this year I think we have," he said. "In fact, we have so much good pitching that I wouldn't want to have Manager Walt Alston's headache of trying to sort it out."

Carey Agrees to Sign With Yankee Club

St. Petersburg, Feb. 23 (AP)—The long list of New York Yankee holdouts was reduced by one today when Andy Carey, a reserve infielder, agreed to terms by phone after a conversation with Roy Hamey, assistant general manager. Carey, who hit .321 as a part-time player last year, has been sought in deals by other clubs, including the Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles. His salary is estimated at $10,000.

Rolloff Set Saturday in Doubles Tie

Arrangements have been completed for the rolloff of the tie score in the doubles competition of the 17th annual Kingston Bowling Association which ended February 14 at Ferraro's Bowlodrome.

Irwin J. Thomas, KBA secretary, announced today that the rolloff will be held Saturday, Feb. 27, at 1 p. m., at the Bowlodrome.

The rolloff will feature Buster Ferraro and Mickey Kahars against Bruce Davis and Cliff Davis. Both tandems fired gross scores of 1340 to tie for first place.

NBA Needs Calculators For Scores

(By The Associated Press)

At the rate they're going, the National Basketball Association clubs might be wise to buy some adding machines and perhaps hire an accoutant to keep track of their scores.

Ordinary mortals have a tough time of it. Last night, for example, the Boston Celtics defeated the Baltimore Bullets 111-110 after three overtime periods. Bob Cousy hit the cords for 42 points in the process of leading the Celtics from a 14-point deficit.

The victory moved the Celtics within a game and a half of the Syracuse National in their battle for second place in the Eastern division.

In the two other games, Neil Johnston tossed in 36 points as the Philadelphia Warriors upset the Minneapolis Lakers—the Western division leaders—79-72, and Fort Wayne decisioned Milwaukee 95-82.

Meanwhile, in games through Sunday, Johnston enjoyed a 238 point lead in his drive to win the scoring championship for the second straight year.

Johnston, who scored 1,564 points last year, has collected 453 field goals and 472 free throws for a total of 1,378 for a percentage of 23.8. Ed Maculey of the Celtics is in second spot with 1,140.

Cousy is third with 1,111. George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers fourth followed by Baltimore's Ray Felix.

Macauley still is the league's top field shooter having connected with 393 out of 814 for a 48.3 percentage.

Gavilan to Meet Cunningham in Miami 10 Rounds

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan meets Johnny Cunningham of Baltimore tonight in the first of two tuneup fights before he goes after Bobo Olson's middleweight crown April 2 in Chicago.

The 10-round non-title fight at the Miami Beach Auditorium will not be telecast or broadcast. A capacity crowd of 3,600 is expected to pay a gross gate of $14,000. The bout is scheduled for 10 p. m. (EST).

Gavilan is a prohibitive favorite. Cunningham has won only nine of 37 fights. In his last fight Nov. 28, Carmen Basilio stopped him in four rounds.

Team 1 Cops Hercules Tourney; Bechtold Hits 300 in Practice Game

Maurer Tops Winners With 591 Triple

There may have been more auspicious scores in the course of the previous 34 Hercules Telegraphic Bowling Tournaments, but this year's 35th annual competition really got off to a sizzling start even before the first ball was thrown Saturday afternoon at the Bowlodrome.

The man responsible for this hectic pre-opening was Leo Bechtold, No. 2 man in the lineup of Team 1 which eventually went on to win the tournament with a 2769 series.

Bechtold appeared at the Cornell street tenpin establishment a little early Saturday afternoon and decided to get in some practice.

Strikes Pile Up

By the time Leo reached his middle frames of his warmup game, the railbirds were beginning to take notice of his continuous stream of strikes. They kept on watching and the Hercules trundler kept on pitching strikes.

By the time Leo was ready to take part in the official tournament action he had himself a nifty 300 perfect game to his credit. Not recognized by the ABC, of course, but Bechtold still had himself a dream game of 300.

Bechtold came out of the tournament with a 528 triple on scores of 180-168-180.

Joe Maurer led Team 1 to the title with a 591 three-timer on scores of 200-200-191. Cliff Davis hammered 209-586; Joe Mannello 213-554 and Ken Newell 510.

Team 2, Bowling 2633, was led by Tracy Jordan who fired 208-549; Vince Noble 238-547; Ed Smedes 530 and John North 526.

The score:

Team 1 (2769)

Cliff Davis	208	195	182	586
Leo Bechtold	180	168	180	528
Ken Newell	164	191	155	510
Joe Maurer	200	200	191	591
Joe Mannello	175	213	166	554
	928	967	874	2769

Team 2 (2633)

Tracy Jordan	208	153	188	549
Vince Noble	162	238	147	547
John North	161	178	187	526
Ed. Smedes	188	178	164	530
Joe Dulin	170	168	143	481

Paddle Results

In the business and professional men's paddleball tournament at the YMCA last night Bing Van Etten and Jake Francis defeated Al Townsend and Jack Purvis by scores of 21 to 14 and 21 to 18. In the only other match Chet Dolson and George Rifenbary defeated Lou Schafer and Edmund Coughlin 16 to 21, 21 to 18, and 21 to 14. Two other matches last night were postponed until a date in the near future.

Kentucky Loses 3 Cage Stars, Last of '51 Champs

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The basketball sun won't shine bright on the home of Kentucky basketball today, for the three big stars have played their last game there.

All America Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos, the last remaining members of Kentucky's 1951 national champions, bowed out on the Lexington, Ky., court in fine style last night as they led Kentucky to a 100-64 rout of Vanderbilt. With Hagan getting 22 points, Tsioropoulos 20 and Ramsey 19, the big three came close to tying Vandy all by themselves.

The big three, barred from play last year by the NCAA, have two more regular season games away from home, then in all probability will wind up their college careers in a playoff with Louisiana State for the south-eastern conference championships. Even if Kentucky wins that one, the three can't play in the NCAA tourney because they're now postgraduates.

Pettit Through

LSU kept pace with Kentucky in the SEC race by whipping Alabama 79-65 as 6-9 Bob Pettit, the best basketball player in the bayous for years, closed his home career with a 35-point scoring outburst.

Even though the big three have played their last game at home, the picture is brighter today for Kentucky, ranked second in the country behind Duquesne, than for third-ranked Indiana. The proud Hoosiers, expecting to clinch a tie for the big 10 conference before the home folks, were rudely jolted by Iowa's brash sophomores 82-64.

The upset, coupled with Illinois' 66-64 thriller over Wisconsin on two free throws by Jim Wright with a minute to play, left Indiana in front with a 10-2 record. But Iowa is 9-3 and Illinois 8-3.

First Dutch Wins, Also Redeemers in Protestant League

In the first game of the Protestant Junior Church League Saturday afternoon in the YMCA First Dutch defeated their arch rival Trinity Lutheran 54 to 34. First Dutch led at the quarter 12 to 4, 21 to 18 at the half, and 35 to 22 at the end of the third quarter. Charlie Bell was high with 14 and Dirk Oudemool followed with 13. For Trinity Lutheran Don Krueger was high with 16.

In the second game Redeemer Lutheran led by Big Phil Hendricks defeated Immanuel 75 to 58. Redeemer led at the quarter 17 to 15, at the half 44 to 31, and at the third quarter 62 to 48. Bib Hendricks scored 36 points for the winning Redeemer team followed by Joe Kelly with 15 and Tom Rowland with 12. For Immanuel John Schryver was high with 23 followed by Carl Beatty with 11.

First Dutch (54)—Comstock, f, 10; Peck, f, 4; Barieka, c, 9; Bell, g, 14; D. Oudemool, g, 13; J. Oudemool, sub, 4.

Trinity Lutheran (34)—Krueger, f, 16; Dietz, f, 2; Kuhne, c, 4; Nagele, g, 8; Miller, g, 2; Scharp, sub, 0; Longenryke, sub, 2.

Redeemer Lutheran (75)—Dumond, f, 0; Kelly, f, 15; Hendricks, c, 36; Rowland, g, 12; Proper, g, 8; Tienken, sub, 4.

Dairymen's 1238 Fourth in U. S.

The all-time Hudson Valley Bowling League high team single score of 1238 shot by Jones Dairy in their sweep over the Newburgh Toohey's Saturday night at the Bowlodrome, is the fourth highest in the nation, according to the January listing in the Bowling Magazine put out by the American Bowling Congress.

Jones Dairy eclipsed the former high of 1214 held by Cy's Diner of Newburgh since 1948 and surpassed the seasonal high of 1180 held by the Veteran Cabs of Poughkeepsie.

Heading the high team totals in the country is the Pfeiffer Beer squad of Detroit, Mich., with 1275.

No. 2 team is the King Louie Shirts of Plains, Pa., with 1268 and in third place are the Silver Seals of St. Louis, Mo., with 1257.

Trailing behind the Dairymen's 1238 are the Garden Spot, Hackensack, N. J., with 1226 and the Krueger Beer team of Newark, N. J., with 1223.

Van Dusen Cracks 607

Vern Van Dusen sandwiched a 229 game around sticks of 192 and 186 to lead the Central Rec Mixed League with 607 Sunday night.

Runnerup was Ken Donnelly who fired 217-564.

Other top efforts included Stan Harris with 455; Don Peterson 455; Phil Reilly 496; John Davis 486; Paul Khederian 497; Dewey Logan 482; Dot Khederian 487; Marie Bechtold 477; Joe Coughlin 485; John Bechtold 497; Whitey Crispell 450 and Bob Peterson 493.

Team results:

Sicklers and Renns Win Rec Loop Playoff Games

Monday in playoff games of both the Senior and Midget divisions of the Recreation League, Sickler's Delivery went one up on the Newkirk Aces and the Renns earned the third position in the Midget division with an overtime one-point victory over Immaculate Conception.

Sicklers won the initial game in a best two out of three series to determine the Senior League champions with a 71-65 win over the Newkirk Aces. Led by Herm Sickler and Don Ferraro, who netted 21 and 13 points respectively, the Deliverymen moved out in the third period when the Aces could gather only 7 points.

While the Aces were stalled the Deliverymen with a great team effort scored 18 and held off an Aces threat in the last stanza. Don Baum with 16 and Bob Kozlowski were high for the losers.

In the midget game to determine third and fourth positions for the coming Shaughnessy playoffs, the Renns, led by Mel and Charlie Williams, scored a one-point victory in an overtime period. The Renns scored seven points to Immaculate Conception's six in the overtime period and the Williams brothers accounted for all the points.

The game went into an overtime when with but two seconds to play Frank Weishaupt sank a set shot from the side to tie up the game.

Wednesday night, at George Washington gym the Renns will meet the first place Rapp Juniors; Immaculate Conception will meet the National Juniors, both in best two out of three series.

Players Must Play

Wheaton, Ill. (AP)—Like ducks taking to water, 12 Canadian students attending Wheaton College have proved their mettle as hockey players. At first they had no place to practice or play; they had no equipment or standing in the college's athletic program. But they overcame the obstacles by forming the Wheaton Hockey Club, an intramural group. It is coached by Bill Gale. Their rink is four tennis courts. Their personally-owned gear and skates are battered and makeshift but the winning spirit runs high. They've defeated the University of Chicago team twice, 8-6 and 7-6.

Detroit Wings Are Headed for Honors In National Group

Montreal, Feb. 23 (AP)—Detroit's mighty Red Wings appeared today to be headed for another clean sweep of top individual and team honors of the National Hockey League.

The Wings moved a step nearer an unprecedented sixth straight league title last night when they turned back the Montreal Canadiens, 3-0 in a crucial game at Detroit.

Right-winger Gordie Howe kept pace with his mates by stretching his edge in the individual scoring race to 10 points over Montreal's Maurice Richard, with a pair of assists.

Terry Sawchuck strengthened his bid for a third straight Vezina Trophy as the loop's least-scored-on goalie by picking up his 12th shutout. Sawchuck now has a goals-against average of 1.71.

Angels Score 102 Against Bakers

In the only game played Saturday night in the "A" Division of the Winter League Harry's Angels swamped Victory Bakery 102 to 69. The Angels led 30 to 20, and at the half 56 to 36, and 76 to 40 at the end of the third period.

Ward Dunham was high man for the Angels with 26 points followed by Bill East with 23, Eric Goercke with 17, Bill Kleine with 15, and Champ Holstein with 11. For Victory Bakery Huyler Van Wagenen scored 18, Vince Van Bramer 13, and Vince Peck 12.

Sherwood Winner Of Skiing Title

Ishpeming, Mich., Feb. 23 (AP)—Easterner Roy Sherwood invaded this north country home of skiing to show 'em how it's done and he did.

The Salisbury, Conn., stylist, leaping 244 and 236 feet, won the National Ski Assn. title on Suicide Hill yesterday. But it was close. He barely defeated Ishpeming's own Clarence Hill, 212.5 points to 211.9. Hill leaped 239 and 231 feet.

Sven Davidson Wins Indoor Tennis Championship of U. S.

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The name is Sven Davidson-one "s", if you please. No "double s."

Sven Davidson of Stockholm, Sweden, is the new indoor tennis champion of the United States and today stands out as one of the game's most promising young comers.

He won the hardwood crown at the Seventh Regiment Armory yesterday with a 3-6, 6-1, 6-4 victory over a longtime Scandinavian rival, Kurt Nielsen of Denmark.

If there's anything more confusing than the tall Swede's dazzling net style it's his name, which comes out with all sorts of "s" combinations.

"My family spells it with two 's's'—Davidsson—and that's what's on my passport," the 25-year-old Stockholm engineering student said today. "But I like it with one 's'—Davidson. I want to be a one 's' man."

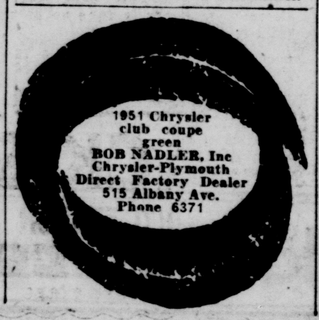

Davidson, minus an "s", moves to Miami today to play in the city championship, already under way there. He and Nielsen intend to make the full Florida circuit before returning overseas.

Plays Mostly Indoors

The handsome Swede said he planned to return for our national championships at Forest Hills in late summer, but he won't be able to make the preliminary grass court swing.

In Sweden's climate, Davidson gets to play outdoor tennis only four months a year. Most of his competition—eight months—is on hardwood. That's why he is one of the world's best on boards.

"My only grass court experience is at Wimbledon and Forest Hills," Davidson said. "We don't have grass courts in Sweden. The changeover is tough but I hope to whip it."

Two Committees Will Be Guided By 'Conscience'

Albany, Feb. 23 (AP)—Two permanent committees to be guided largely by "conscience" will be proposed to judge the ethics of state lawmakers and public officials, it was indicated today.

A special state committee, set up at Gov. Dewey's request to draft a code of ethics for public life, is expected to recommend that a system "based on conscience" should be adopted.

It would call for a four-member panel of lawmakers to consider any charges against members of the Legislature and for a five-member panel of public members to handle cases involving other public officials.

The code was expected to be couched in broad terms rather than in specific listings of what practices were deemed unethical. There was some uncertainty as to whether it would embrace the conduct of political party officers.

The 12-member special legislative committee on ethics in government also was instructed to establish a "code of fair play" for the conduct of state investigations. But reports conflicted today on whether that would be done.

No Violations, Report

One source said the group would declare that no state legislative committee ever had violated standards of proper conduct in an investigation and that therefore no fair play code would be necessary.

Another report said members of the committee had agreed on at least two points of a fair play code. One would permit attorneys for witnesses before investigating agencies to submit questions to be asked by the committe chairmen.

This source said it also was agreed to reject a proposal that witnesses who had testified in a cooperative way at private hearings be excused from appearing later at public hearings.

The Ethics Committee, headed by Charles C. Lockwood, a former state Supreme Court justice from Brooklyn, met for four hours yesterday and was scheduled to go into a final session behind closed doors this afternoon.

On Basis of Reports

On the basis of reports now available, the committee's recommendations would appear to fall somewhat short of Gov. Dewey's expectations. The Lockwood Committee was instructed to:

1. Define by legislation those business and professional activities that are improper for government and party officers.

2. Develop legislation dealing with the question of private practice before state agencies by public officers.

3. Promulgate a code of ethics with respect to conflicts between the business and professional interests of public and party officers.

The Lockwood Committee is expected to recommend stringent safeguards to protect lawmakers and public officials from unfounded attacks.

It was reported that one phrase suggested to the committee was:

"No wrongdoing shall be imputed to a member of the Legislature unless he exploits his position for extraordinary private gain. Exploitation shall be defined as meaning the use of illegal pressure stemming from his official position."

It appeared that the Lockwood group would not recommend that members of the Legislature be barred from practicing before state agencies, as had been suggested. However, the committee is expected to propose that public officials other than lawmakers be barred from appearing before a state agency for a fee.

Another reported proposal would bar national committee members and chairmen of the state committees of political parties from lobbying for two years after leaving their party posts.

However, some members of the Lockwood Committee are said to feel that the political parties themselves would be better qualified to write their own codes of ethics, or perhaps a joint code.

The legislative ethics panel, it was reported, would have the power to recommend impeachment or to discipline a lawmaker found guilty of violating the suggested standards. The public panel presumably would be able to suggest that other public officials be removed from office for breaches of the code.

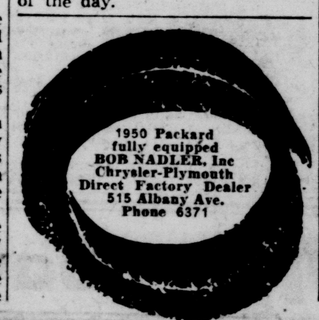

Pope Still Needs Rest, Vatican Sources Say

Vatican City, Feb. 23 (AP) — Vatican sources today dampened overly-optimistic reports of the Pope's recovery and said he still needs rest.

There was no official communique or bulletin on the health of the 77-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church, who was stricken a month ago with a severe gastric ailment.

But Vatican sources denied a report in Rome's Independent Tempo saying that the Pope yesterday resumed working in his private office.

This is not true, said the Vatican sources, adding that the pontiff still must rest in bed most of the day.

Sicklers and Renns Win Rec Loop Playoff Games

Monday in playoff games of both the Senior and Midget divisions of the Recreation League, Sickler's Delivery went one up on the Newkirk Aces and the Renns earned the third position in the Midget division with an overtime one-point victory over Immaculate Conception.

Sicklers won the initial game in a best two out of three series to determine the Senior League champions with a 71-65 win over the Newkirk Aces. Led by Herm Sickler and Don Ferraro, who netted 21 and 13 points respectively, the Deliverymen moved out in the third period when the Aces could gather only 7 points.

While the Aces were stalled the Deliverymen with a great team effort scored 18 and held off an Aces threat in the last stanza. Don Baum with 16 and Bob Kozlowski were high for the losers.

In the midget game to determine third and fourth positions for the coming Shaughnessy playoffs, the Renns, led by Mel and Charlie Williams, scored a one-point victory in an overtime period. The Renns scored seven points to Immaculate Conception's six in the overtime period and the Williams brothers accounted for all the points.

The game went into an overtime when with but two seconds to play Frank Weishaupt sank a set shot from the side to tie up the game.

Wednesday night, at George Washington gym the Renns will meet the first place Rapp Juniors: Immaculate Conception will meet the National Juniors, both in best two out of three series.

Players Must Play

Wheaton, Ill. (AP) — Like ducks taking to water, 12 Canadian students attending Wheaton College have proved their mettle as hockey players. At first they had no place to practice or play; they had no equipment or standing in the college's athletic program. But they overcame the obstacles by forming the Wheaton Hockey Club, an intramural group. It is coached by Bill Gale. Their rink is four tennis courts. Their personally-owned gear and skates are battered and makeshift but the winning spirit runs high. They've defeated the University of Chicago team twice, 8-6 and 7-6.

Detroit Wings Are Headed for Honors In National Group

Montreal, Feb. 23 (AP)—Detroit's mighty Red Wings appeared today to be headed for another clean sweep of top individual and team honors of the National Hockey League.

The Wings moved a step nearer an unprecedented sixth straight league title last night when they turned back the Montreal Canadiens, 3-0 in a crucial game at Detroit.

Right-winger Gordie Howe kept pace with his mates by stretching his edge in the individual scoring race to 10 points over Montreal's Maurice Richard with a pair of assists.

Terry Sawchuck strengthened his bid for a third straight Vezina Trophy as the loop's least-scored-on goalie by picking up his 12th shutout. Sawchuck now has a goals-against average of 1.71.

Angels Score 102 Against Bakers

In the only game played Saturday night in the "A" Division of the Winter League Harry's Angels swamped Victory Bakery 102 to 69. The Angels led 30 to 20, and at the half 56 to 36, and 76 to 40 at the end of the third period.

Ward Dunham was high man for the Angels with 26 points followed by Bill East with 23, Eric Goercke with 17, Bill Kleine with 15, and Chamo Holstein with 11. For Victory Bakery Huyler Van Wagenen scored 18, Vince Van Bramer 13, and Vince Peck 12.

Sven Davidson Wins Indoor Tennis Championship of U. S.

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The name is Sven Davidson-one "s", if you please. No "double s."

Be sure to get it right. It's a name you're going to be seeing more and more in the next few years.

Sven Davidson of Stockholm, Sweden, is the new indoor tennis champion of the United States and today stands out as one of the game's most promising young comers.

He won the hardwood crown at the Seventh Regiment Armory yesterday with a 3-6, 6-1, 6-4 victory over a longtime Scandinavian rival, Kurt Nielsen of Denmark.

If there's anything more confusing than the tall Swede's dazzling net style it's his name, which comes out with all sorts of "s" combinations.

"My family spells it with two 's's'—Davidsson—and that's what's on my passport," the 25-year-old Stockholm engineering student said today. "But I like it with one 's'—Davidson. I want to be a one 's' man."

Davidson, minus an "s", moves to Miami today to play in the city championship, already under way there. He and Nielsen intend to make the full Florida circuit before returning overseas.

Plays Mostly Indoors

The handsome Swede said he planned to return for our national championships at Forest Hills in late summer, but he won't be able to make the preliminary grass court swing.

In Sweden's climate, Davidson gets to play outdoor tennis only four months a year. Most of his competition—eight months—is on hardwood. That's why he is one of the world's best on boards.

"My only grass court experience is at Wimbledon and Forest Hills," Davidson said. "We don't have grass courts in Sweden. The changeover is tough but I hope to whip it."

Two Committees Will Be Guided By 'Conscience'

Albany, Feb. 23 (AP)—Two permanent committees to be guided largely by "conscience" will be proposed to judge the ethics of state lawmakers and public officials, it was indicated today.

A special state committee, set up at Gov. Dewey's request to draft a code of ethics for public life, is expected to recommend that a system "based on conscience" should be adopted.

It would call for a four-member panel of lawmakers to consider any charges against members of the Legislature and for a five-member panel of public members to handle cases involving other public officials.

The code was expected to be couched in broad terms rather than in specific listings of what practices were deemed unethical. There was some uncertainty as to whether it would embrace the conduct of political party officers.

The 12-member special legislative committee on ethics in government also was instructed to establish a "code of fair play" for the conduct of state investigations. But reports conflicted today on whether that would be done.

No Violations, Report

One source said the group would declare that no state legislative committee ever had violated standards of proper conduct in an investigation and that therefore no fair play code would be necessary.

Another report said members of the committee had agreed on at least two points of a fair play code. One would permit attorneys for witnesses before investigating agencies to submit questions to be asked by the committe chairmen.

This source said it also was agreed to reject a proposal that witnesses who had testified in a cooperative way at private hearings be excused from appearing later at public hearings.

The Ethics Committee, headed by Charles C. Lockwood, a former state Supreme Court justice from Brooklyn, met for four hours yesterday and was scheduled to go into a final session behind closed doors this afternoon.

On Basis of Reports

On the basis of reports now available, the committee's recommendations would appear to fall somewhat short of Gov. Dewey's expectations. The Lockwood Committee was instructed to:

1. Define by legislation those business and professional activities that are improper for government and party officers.

2. Develop legislation dealing with the question of private practice before state agencies by public officers.

3. Promulgate a code of ethics with respect to conflicts between the business and professional interests of public and party officers.

The Lockwood Committee is expected to recommend stringent safeguards to protect lawmakers and public officials from unfounded attacks.

It was reported that one phrase suggested to the committee was: "No wrongdoing shall be imputed to a member of the Legislature unless he exploits his position for extraordinary private gain. Exploitation shall be defined as meaning the use of illegal pressure stemming from his official position."

It appeared that the Lockwood group would not recommend that members of the Legislature be barred from practicing before state agencies, as had been suggested. However, the committee is expected to propose that public officials other than lawmakers be barred from appearing before a state agency for a fee.

Another reported proposal would bar national committee members and chairmen of the state committees of political parties from lobbying for two years after leaving their party posts.

However, some members of the Lockwood Committee are said to feel that the political parties themselves would be better qualified to write their own codes of ethics, or perhaps a joint code.

The legislative ethics panel, it was reported, would have the power to recommend impeachment or to discipline a lawmaker found guilty of violating the suggested standards. The public panel presumably would be able to suggest that other public officials be removed from office for breaches of the code.

Pope Still Needs Rest, Vatican Sources Say

Vatican City, Feb. 23 (AP) — Vatican sources today dampened overly-optimistic reports of the Pope's recovery and said he still needs rest.

There was no official communique or bulletin on the health of the 77-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church, who was stricken a month ago with a severe gastric ailment.

But Vatican sources denied a report in Rome's Independent Tempo saying that the Pope yesterday resumed working in his private office.

This is not true, said the Vatican sources, adding that the pontiff still must rest in bed most of the day.

Five More Writs Have Been Given

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Attorney General Brownell announced today a Federal Grand Jury has returned five additional indictments charging 18 individuals and seven corporations with diverse offenses in connection with the disposal of surplus ships from World War 2.

Among the individuals was former Rep. Joseph Casey (D.-Mass.).

The indictments, Brownell said, were voted by a grand jury here last April 23, but were kept sealed until the government reached the conclusion that some of the defendants, living abroad, are unlikely ever to return to the United States.

The indictments announced today, which are a part of a series of such indictments, named Casey for a second time during the series. The ex-lawmaker, who once headed a group alleged to have made immense profits in surplus ship transfers, was accused of conspiracy to breach a purchase contract with the government by sales of stock in the purchasing company to others without approval of the Maritime Commission.

Charges J. C. Holmes

Today's indictments similarly charged Julius C. Holmes of New York city, former United States minister to London, who was alleged to have participated in the Casey transactions.

Other indictments announced early this month named Casey and Aristotle S. Onassis, fabulously wealth resident of Argentina who runs a worldwide shipping business headquarters at Monte Carlo. Those indictments charged them with conspiring to defraud the government.

All of the indictments involve charges that surplus U. S. government ships were purchased in the names of Americans and illegally funnelled to aliens through corporate transactions.

Christenberry Confirmed

Yankees Sell Pitcher Raschi

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—The New York Yankees today announced the sale of right-handed pitcher Vic Raschi to the St. Louis Cardinals for cash and several minor league players.

George Weiss, general manager of the Yankees, said the deal involved "considerable cash." The exact figure was not announced and the names of the minor league players involved were not made public immediately.

Raschi has a record of 120 wins and 50 defeats during the years he has been with the Yankees. He had 13 wins and 6 defeats last year and a 16-6 record the year before. From 1949 through 1951, he won 21 games a year.

Medical Reaction

the possibility of early polio epidemics.

Counties in which school children will be inoculated have not yet been announced.

Usually Starts in South

Van Riper said polio in epidemic form usually starts in the south in the spring and then moves northward through June, July and August. He said epidemics before May are rare, even in the south, and that the pattern varies within each state.

The foundation official said state health officers will decide whether to go ahead with the tests once counties are selected.

Van Riper added:

"I am sure that the health officer in any state would cancel the test in a county if the incidence of polio showed that an epidemic was already gathering momentum there.

"We are very certain, however, that this will not be the case in many southern counties selected for the test.

"The appearance of a few cases of polio without the pattern of steady increase in numbers would not be sufficient reason for abandoning the test."

Children selected to receive the vaccine will be given three doses over a five-week period.

Group Says 291

down 291 as having transferred to other agencies. He did not elaborate on the point and was not questioned about it. Thus there was nothing to indicate whether all or many of these are still on the federal payroll.

McLeod said that in 99 of these transfer cases the principal security factor was "homosexual deviations." In the same category, he added, 278 investigations were pending.

Civil Service Notified

McLeod said that when any employe whose case was evaluated under the old Truman administration loyalty program left the state department before his case was re-evaluated under the new Eisenhower standards, the Civil Service Commission was notified if a security question remained unresolved.

McLeod said the purpose of the security program was not to "punish a man for what he has done in the past" but to "project into the future what the pattern of behavior and conduct of this individual will be, from what he has exhibited in the past, and whether or not that is likely to be a danger to the government."

Besides those fired for cause and transferred to other federal agencies, McLeod's breakdown of the department's 250 security separations last year included 188 who resigned, 50 released through reductions in force, 36 released at expiration of limited appointment, and 4 who retired.

Theodore C. Streibert, director, gave the figures for the U. S. Information Agency, which became an independent operation last Aug. 1 after having been under direction of the state department.

The 31 employes dropped from his agency for security reasons, Streibert said, included no Communists that he knew of.

Mitchell said the President's popularity is going down because the people are identifying him more closely with his party "and they know from previous experience what the Republicans are like."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Salk Vaccine Is Injected Into Pittsburgh Children

Pittsburgh, Feb. 23 (AP)—The first batch of city school youngsters today received their injections of Salk's vaccine—science's first best hope of conquering polio.

Dr. Jonas Salk, discoverer of the vaccine, administered the injections personally, as he will to all 5,000 first, second and third grade pupils between now and June in 19 Pittsburgh schools.

Under terms laid down by Dr. Salk, the names of the children receiving inoculations were withheld. They were given no prior warning of the injections.

The University of Pittsburgh scientist said he wanted the children to approach the tests in a completely normal frame of mind, without the chance to build up mental tensions and fears beforehand. The first injections were given at Arsenal elementary school.

To Watch Effects

Dr. Salk has planned the local test so that he can watch the vaccine's effect step-by-step in the youngsters receiving it.

Blood tests will be given with the injections—which may number as many as three for each child—to record the progress of the vaccine in building up immunization to the crippling polio virus.

The first large scale effort is to determine whether the vaccine will confirm the hoped-for immunity for infantyle paralysis. But the vaccine has been tested, over a period of years, on countless laboratory animals and on more than 600 human beings.

So confident is Dr. Salk that the vaccine cannot harm those receiving it that he, his wife and their two children were among the first to be inoculated.

Combination of Three

The vaccine itself is a combination of three paralysis-producing strains of polio known to science. It is cultured in laboratories and safety-tested before it is administered.

Once injected, the vaccine induces a mild case of polio which the system conquers, strengthening its natural resistance to the disease.

Dr. Salk believes the vaccine will produce immunity for as much as seven months after injection.

While the Pittsburgh test is the first for Salk's vaccine, it will not be the only one.

Fishing Schooner Leaks, Calls Coast Guard Help

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—A coast guard cutter today took in tow a leaking fishing schooner 100 miles off the New Jersey coast.

A message to the coast guard at 8:35 a. m. said the 95-foot cutter, No. 95,308, reached the side of the "Teresa and Jean" from New Bedford, Mass., about 100 miles off the Jersey coast between Manasquan and Atlantic City.

The cutter secured a line to the schooner and headed for New York harbor, where it is expected to arrive at 9:30 p. m.

Merry-Go-Rounds Are in Great Demand

Leavenworth, Kan., Feb. 23 (AP)—The merry-go-round business has Paul Parker going in circles.

Parker, one of the largest manufacturers of the riding devices, says he doesn't know whether general business conditions around the country are good, bad or medium.

But in merry-go-rounds, it's booming.

Since the first of the year, he's produced three and has orders for 15 more. That may not sound like a lot of orders, but in Parker's line it's mighty good. Last year, for example, his total production was four.

He's been in the business as long as he can remember. His father began manufacturing merry-go-rounds in 1892.

Royalty Takes Off

Hobart, Tasmania, Feb. 23 (AP)—Low gray clouds which halted all plane service at Hobart Airport lifted briefly today, permitting Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to take off by plane for this island state's northern coast.

Alabama Convict Shot to Death

Speigner, Ala., Feb. 23 (AP)—A 20-year-old white convict was shot to death and another wounded while trying to escape over the wall at Draper Prison early today.

First reports said three or more men were believed to have taken part in the attempted break and that at least one prisoner had made a getaway. Deputy Warden J. H. Robertson said, however, that a check of the prison population showed only the two inmates were involved.

The dead convict was identified as Ronald Coleman of Birmingham, Ala., who had been in prison only since June, 1953, and who also figured in an escape plot in January.

The injured prisoner was listed as William Glover, 21, from Whigham, Ga.

Five More Writs Have Been Given

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Attorney General Brownell announced today a Federal Grand Jury has returned five additional indictments charging 18 individuals and seven corporations with diverse offenses in connection with the disposal of surplus ships from World War 2.

Among the individuals was former Rep. Joseph Casey (D.-Mass.).

The indictments, Brownell said, were voted by a grand jury here last April 23, but were kept sealed until the government reached the conclusion that some of the defendants, living abroad, are unlikely ever to return to the United States.

The indictments announced today, which are a part of a series of such indictments, named Casey for a second time during the series. The ex-lawmaker, who once headed a group alleged to have made immense profits in surplus ship transfers, was accused of conspiracy to breach a purchase contract with the government by sales of stock in the purchasing company to others without approval of the Maritime Commission.

Charges J. C. Holmes

Today's indictments similarly charged Julius C. Holmes of New York city, former United States minister to London, who was alleged to have participated in the Casey transactions.

Other indictments announced early this month named Casey and Aristotle S. Onassis, fabulously wealth resident of Argentina who runs a worldwide shipping business headquarters at Monte Carlo. Those indictments charged them with conspiring to defraud the government.

All of the indictments involve charges that surplus U. S. government ships were purchased in the names of Americans and illegally funnelled to aliens through corporate transactions.

Christenberry Confirmed

Yankees Sell Pitcher Raschi

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—The New York Yankees today announced the sale of right-handed pitcher Vic Raschi to the St. Louis Cardinals for cash and several minor league players.

George Weiss, general manager of the Yankees, said the deal involved "considerable cash." The exact figure was not announced and the names of the minor league players involved were not made public immediately.

Raschi has a record of 120 wins and 50 defeats during the years he has been with the Yankees. He had 13 wins and 6 defeats last year and a 16-6 record the year before. From 1949 through 1951, he won 21 games a year.

Medical Reaction

the possibility of early polio epidemics.

Counties in which school children will be inoculated have not yet been announced.

Usually Starts in South

Van Riper said polio in epidemic form usually starts in the south in the spring and then moves northward through June, July and August. He said epidemics before May are rare, even in the south, and that the pattern varies within each state.

The foundation official said state health officers will decide whether to go ahead with the tests once counties are selected.

Van Riper added:

"I am sure that the health officer in any state would cancel the test in a county if the incidence of polio showed that an epidemic was already gathering momentum there.

"We are very certain, however, that this will not be the case in many southern counties selected for the test.

"The appearance of a few cases of polio without the pattern of steady increase in numbers would not be sufficient reason for abandoning the test."

Children selected to receive the vaccine will be given three doses over a five-week period.

Group Says 291

down 291 as having transferred to other agencies. He did not elaborate on the point and was not questioned about it. Thus there was nothing to indicate whether all or many of these are still on the federal payroll.

McLeod said that in 99 of these transfer cases the principal security factor was "homosexual deviations." In the same category, he added, 278 investigations were pending.

Civil Service Notified

McLeod said that when any employe whose case was evaluated under the old Truman administration loyalty program left the state department before his case was re-evaluated under the new Eisenhower standards, the Civil Service Commission was notified if a security question remained unresolved.

McLeod said the purpose of the security program was not to "punish a man for what he has done in the past" but to "project into the future what the pattern of behavior and conduct of this individual will be, from what he has exhibited in the past, and whether or not that is likely to be a danger to the government."

Besides those fired for cause and transferred to other federal agencies, McLeod's breakdown of the department's 250 security separations last year included 188 who resigned, 50 released through reductions in force, 36 released at expiration of limited appointment, and 4 who retired.

Theodore C. Streibert, director, gave the figures for the U. S. Information Agency, which became an independent operation last Aug. 1 after having been under direction of the state department.

The 31 employes dropped from his agency for security reasons, Streibert said, included no Communists that he knew of.

"Most of those were on matters of instability, moral factors," he said.

To Watch Effects

Dr. Salk has planned the local test so that he can watch the vaccine's effect step-by-step in the youngsters receiving it.

Blood tests will be given with the injections—which may number as many as three for each child—to record the progress of the vaccine in building up immunization to the crippling polio virus.

The first large scale effort is to determine whether the vaccine will confirm the hoped-for immunity for infantyle paralysis. But the vaccine has been tested, over a period of years, on countless laboratory animals and on more than 600 human beings.

So confident is Dr. Salk that the vaccine cannot harm those receiving it that he, his wife and their two children were among the first to be inoculated.

Combination of Three

The vaccine itself is a combination of three paralysis-producing strains of polio known to science. It is cultured in laboratories and safety-tested before it is administered.

Once injected, the vaccine induces a mild case of polio which the system conquers, strengthening its natural resistance to the disease.

Dr. Salk believes the vaccine will produce immunity for as much as seven months after injection.

While the Pittsburgh test is the first for Salk's vaccine, it will not be the only one.

Fishing Schooner Leaks, Calls Coast Guard Help

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—A coast guard cutter today took in tow a leaking fishing schooner 100 miles off the New Jersey coast.

A message to the coast guard at 8:35 a. m. said the 95-foot cutter, No. 95,308, reached the side of the "Teresa and Jean" from New Bedford, Mass., about 100 miles off the Jersey coast between Manasquan and Atlantic City.

The cutter secured a line to the schooner and headed for New York harbor, where it is expected to arrive at 9:30 p. m.

Merry-Go-Rounds Are in Great Demand

Leavenworth, Kan., Feb. 23 (AP)—The merry-go-round business has Paul Parker going in circles.

Parker, one of the largest manufacturers of the riding devices, says he doesn't know whether general business conditions around the country are good, bad or medium.

But in merry-go-rounds, it's booming.

Since the first of the year, he's produced three and has orders for 15 more. That may not sound like a lot of orders, but in Parker's line it's mighty good. Last year, for example, his total production was four.

He's been in the business as long as he can remember. His father began manufacturing merry-go-rounds in 1892.

Royalty Takes Off

Hobart, Tasmania, Feb. 23 (AP)—Low gray clouds which halted all plane service at Hobart Airport lifted briefly today, permitting Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to take off by plane for this island state's northern coast.

Alabama Convict Shot to Death

Speigner, Ala., Feb. 23 (AP)—A 20-year-old white convict was shot to death and another wounded while trying to escape over the wall at Draper Prison early today.

First reports said three or more men were believed to have taken part in the attempted break and that at least one prisoner had made a getaway. Deputy Warden J. H. Robertson said, however, that a check of the prison population showed only the two inmates were involved.

The dead convict was identified as Ronald Coleman of Birmingham, Ala., who had been in prison only since June, 1953, and who also figured in an escape plot in January.

The injured prisoner was listed as William Glover, 21, from Whigham, Ga.

Dulles to Keep representatives of the affected states are on hand and enjoying an "equal voice."

Most of the lawmakers brushed aside reporters' questions as they left Dulles' office. But their grim expressions, coupled with the length of the meeting and their terse rejection of those questions prompted speculation that they had thrown some hot questions at the secretary.

Cites Peace Angle

Later Dulles issued a formal statement that "there would be no U. S. recognition of the Chinese Communist regime." He said this country had obtained Russian agreement on this "so efforts to unify Korea and promote peace in Indochina could proceed without changing th U. S. basic position on China."

Knowland said that when Dulles comes before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee tomorrow he will be asked, among other things, "what price is expected to be paid" for a free and united Korea. Knowland is a member of that committee.

Dulles also will report to President Eisenhower when the Chief Executive returns Wednesday from his California vacation, and to the people via radio and TV Wednesday night.

Knowland said the presence of the Chinese Communists at Geneva could be justified in discussion of a possible peace settlement in Korea, since the Reds fought in that war.

Doesn't Like Idea

But he said he doesn't like the idea of talking about peace in Indo-China "before there is a chance to determine what kind of a Korean peace can be achieved."

Chairman Wiley (R.-Wis.) of the foreign relations committee indicated in an interview he expects Korea to be the first topic for discussion at Geneva.

"I think we will find out there whether there is any way by which we can carry out by peaceful means the unification of Korea," he said.

Banquet Ticket

ready received, although the dinner is still two weeks away. Capacity of the combined dining rooms in the hotel is approximately 330.

Dr. Flemming was speaker at the 1950 annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce and his appearance here this year marks the first time since the reorganization of the Chamber that a speaker has been asked to repeat.

Members of the banquet committee will meet Wednesday afternoon to make final arrangements.

Plant Sites . . .

column which appeared in this newspaper on Jan. 29, stated he was convinced "a revolution will take place in the location of factories." Babson, one of the nation's foremost authorities on business, predicted that decentralization of factories will follow the increased nuisance of parking. He contended that the answer to many of the problems facing today's industry is to be found in moving factories into rural sections.

Eyes Mid-Hudson Valley

That industry is already beginning to eye the mid-Hudson valley area for possible plant sites is shown by the fact that within the past year at least 50 bona fide inquiries about the area have been received by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce from industrial firms. Other agencies in the area receive similar inquiries.

Two outstanding examples of modern, growing industries in locations that 20 or 30 years ago would have been considered idiotic are already available in Ulster county: Rotron Manufacturing Corporation's plant located on a ridge in the Catskills a short distance from Woodstock, and Channel Master's new $1,500,000 plant nestled in a picturesque valley in the Shawangunk Mountains near Ellenville.

Those whose job it is to recommend sites for future plants quite often today state that one of the requirements is that there be available seven times the amount of land needed for the actual factory building. The excess is for parking space and future expansion.

Labor supply is another factor in site selection, and with today's standard of living there must be housing space available for the workers, almost all of whom have an automobile, want their own home with garage, and a little garden space to putter around in during their leisure time. Crowded flats and tenements are no longer considered adequate for housing employes.

With the metropolitan area already reaching saturation, with traffic jams becoming more acute in that area, it is inevitable that more and more industries will be investigating the mid-Hudson area.

(Wednesday: One quarter of nation's population within radius of night's travel from Kingston).

Hearings Are to Start On Discrimination

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP) — A Senate labor subcommittee headed by Sen. Ives (R.-N.Y.) today starts two weeks of hearings on a bill to prohibit discrimination in employment because of "race, religion, color, national origin or ancestors."

Ives, one of 19 senators sponsoring the bill, describes it as designed to encourage maximum cooperation from state and local agencies and containing a "minimum of enforcement provisions." The bill is substantially similar to one approved by the Senate Labor Committee two years ago.

Ives said in advance of the hearings that compulsory provisions for enforcement of nondiscrimination would come into play only "in rare instances of open and deliberate defiance" of orders from a proposed commission.

Russians Mark 36th RedArmyBirthday

Moscow, Feb. 23 (AP)—Russia's military leaders marked the 36th anniversary of the Red Army today with new blasts at the United States and repeated assurances that Soviet armed forces are sharpening their skill with the "newest weapons."

The army chief of staff, Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, charged in Izvestia that "American imperialists are preparing a new war against the Soviet Union and the People's Democracies." He warned that Soviet forces are preparing for combat in the atomic age.

The Soviet defense minister, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, in a special order of the day, called on the armed forces for increased vigilance, military preparedness and competence in using the most modern weapons.

Spotlights Weapons

Adm. Nikolai Kuznetsoc also spotlighted new weapons, writing in Izvestia that the Soviet Army and Navy had received new arms and equipment "which are greatly superior to the arms and equipment of the Second World War."

The parade of special articles also included an interview by the Soviet News Agency Tass with Artillery Marshal M. Chistyakov, who charged "reactionary circles in the United States and Britain treacherously held up the opening of a second front (in World War 2) in order to weaken the U.S.S.R. and save the Fascist aggressors from complete defeat."

Nevertheless, Chrisyakov continued, the Soviet troops defeated Germany and then went on to "carry out operations for the defeat of Imperialist Japan."

It was one of the biggest Armed Forces Day celebrations ever held in the Soviet Union, marked by mass sporting events, special meetings and speeches throughout the country, and special radio and television programs. A 20-gun salute was ordered in Moscow.

Dulles to Keep representatives of the affected states are on hand and enjoying an "equal voice."

Most of the lawmakers brushed aside reporters' questions as they left Dulles' office. But their grim expressions, coupled with the length of the meeting and their terse rejection of those questions prompted speculation that they had thrown some hot questions at the secretary.

Cites Peace Angle

Later Dulles issued a formal statement that "there would be no U. S. recognition of the Chinese Communist regime." He said this country had obtained Russian agreement on this "so efforts to unify Korea and promote peace in Indochina could proceed without changing th U. S. basic position on China."

Knowland said that when Dulles comes before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee tomorrow he will be asked, among other things, "what price is expected to be paid" for a free and united Korea. Knowland is a member of that committee.

Dulles also will report to President Eisenhower when the Chief Executive returns Wednesday from his California vacation, and to the people via radio and TV Wednesday night.

Knowland said the presence of the Chinese Communists at Geneva could be justified in discussion of a possible peace settlement in Korea, since the Reds fought in that war.

Doesn't Like Idea

But he said he doesn't like the idea of talking about peace in Indo-China "before there is a chance to determine what kind of a Korean peace can be achieved."

Chairman Wiley (R.-Wis.) of the foreign relations committee indicated in an interview he expects Korea to be the first topic for discussion at Geneva.

"I think we will find out there whether there is any way by which we can carry out by peaceful means the unification of Korea," he said.

Banquet Ticket

ready received, although the dinner is still two weeks away. Capacity of the combined dining rooms in the hotel is approximately 330.

Dr. Flemming was speaker at the 1950 annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce and his appearance here this year marks the first time since the reorganization of the Chamber that a speaker has been asked to repeat.

Members of the banquet committee will meet Wednesday afternoon to make final arrangements.

Plant Sites . . .

column which appeared in this newspaper on Jan. 29, stated he was convinced "a revolution will take place in the location of factories." Babson, one of the nation's foremost authorities on business, predicted that decentralization of factories will follow the increased nuisance of parking. He contended that the answer to many of the problems facing today's industry is to be found in moving factories into rural sections.

Eyes Mid-Hudson Valley

That industry is already beginning to eye the mid-Hudson valley area for possible plant sites is shown by the fact that within the past year at least 50 bona fide inquiries about the area have been received by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce from industrial firms. Other agencies in the area receive similar inquiries.

Two outstanding examples of modern, growing industries in locations that 20 or 30 years ago would have been considered idiotic are already available in Ulster county: Rotron Manufacturing Corporation's plant located on a ridge in the Catskills a short distance from Woodstock, and Channel Master's new $1,500,000 plant nestled in a picturesque valley in the Shawangunk Mountains near Ellenville.

Those whose job it is to recommend sites for future plants quite often today state that one of the requirements is that there be available seven times the amount of land needed for the actual factory building. The excess is for parking space and future expansion.

Labor supply is another factor in site selection, and with today's standard of living there must be housing space available for the workers, almost all of whom have an automobile, want their own home with garage, and a little garden space to putter around in during their leisure time. Crowded flats and tenements are no longer considered adequate for housing employes.

With the metropolitan area already reaching saturation, with traffic jams becoming more acute in that area, it is inevitable that more and more industries will be investigating the mid-Hudson area.

(Wednesday: One quarter of nation's population within radius of night's travel from Kingston).

Hearings Are to Start On Discrimination

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP) — A Senate labor subcommittee headed by Sen. Ives (R.-N.Y.) today starts two weeks of hearings on a bill to prohibit discrimination in employment because of "race, religion, color, national origin or ancestors."

Ives, one of 19 senators sponsoring the bill, describes it as designed to encourage maximum cooperation from state and local agencies and containing a "minimum of enforcement provisions." The bill is substantially similar to one approved by the Senate Labor Committee two years ago.

Ives said in advance of the hearings that compulsory provisions for enforcement of nondiscrimination would come into play only "in rare instances of open and deliberate defiance" of orders from a proposed commission.

Russians Mark 36th Red Army Birthday

Moscow, Feb. 23 (AP)—Russia's military leaders marked the 36th anniversary of the Red Army today with new blasts at the United States and repeated assurances that Soviet armed forces are sharpening their skill with the "newest weapons."

The army chief of staff, Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, charged in Izvestia that "American imperialists are preparing a new war against the Soviet Union and the People's Democracies." He warned that Soviet forces are preparing for combat in the atomic age.

The Soviet defense minister, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, in a special order of the day, called on the armed forces for increased vigilance, military preparedness and competence in using the most modern weapons.

Spotlights Weapons

Adm. Nikolai Kuznetsoc also spotlighted new weapons, writing in Izvestia that the Soviet Army and Navy had received new arms and equipment "which are greatly superior to the arms and equipment of the Second World War."

The parade of special articles also included an interview by the Soviet News Agency Tass with Artillery Marshal M. Chistyakov, who charged "reactionary circles in the United States and Britain treacherously held up the opening of a second front (in World War 2) in order to weaken the U.S.S.R. and save the Fascist aggressors from complete defeat."

Nevertheless, Chrisyakov continued, the Soviet troops defeated Germany and then went on to "carry out operations for the defeat of Imperialist Japan."

It was one of the biggest Armed Forces Day celebrations ever held in the Soviet Union, marked by mass sporting events, special meetings and speeches throughout the country, and special radio and television programs. A 20-gun salute was ordered in Moscow.
